pleted, roofing is being installed and aluminum window frames are being installed in all buildings. Augustus Schrowang Associates anticipates completion of construction by April 18, 1967. (IBM photo)

Scale Down Czech Crash Deaths to 81

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Reports today said three passengers disembarked at the last stop of a Bulgarian airliner that crashed in southern Czechoslovakia minutes after it took off from Bratislava with a roster of 76 passengers and eight crew members.

No Confirmation
Czechoslovak sources said a French journalist a Soviet airline pilot and a Bulgarian government official got off the plane thus indicating a death toll of 81. A Hungarian report indicated a death toll of 83. There was no official confirmation of either figure.

The official East German news agency ADN said one of the crash victims was the Bulgarian ambassador to East Germany Ivan Batshvarov.

Minutes After Takeoff
The Soviet-made Ilyushin turboprop crashed moments after takeoff in bad weather following an unscheduled stop at Bratislava capital of Slovakia near the border with Austria and Hungary.

Earlier a spokesman for the Hungarian Air Transport Co. said only one passenger got off the plane at Bratislava.

He said six of those killed were Westerners including a Briton two Brazilians and a Swiss.

The Hungarian report conflicted with information given Thursday night by the Czechoslovak CTK news agency that an undetermined number of passengers had left the plane at Bratislava. The CTK report indicated a death toll lower than 83.

Made in Weather Stop
Czech and Hungarian authorities gave few details of the crash which occurred at dusk in fog and wind on a wooded foothill of the Carpathian Mountains six miles from Bratislava.

The plane was en route from Sofia to East Berlin via Budapest and Prague. It made an unscheduled stop at Bratislava because of worsening weather.

Summer Occupancy Planned Expect First Phase Will Be Ready by Mid-April

Fifty-seven per cent of the general construction of the Ulster County Community College campus at Stone Ridge already has now been completed, according to the monthly report from Augustus Schrowang Associates which was reviewed by the College Trustees at their last regular meeting.

The scheduled completion date for the first phase of construction is April 18, 1967, and college officials are presently planning campus occupancy for the 1967 Summer Session.

Will Allow for Delay
According to the architect's report, the anticipated completion date has been adjusted to allow for delay in construction due to the change in the choice of brick. The scheduled per cent of completion for the construction project reflects the general construction contracts. The actual per cent of completion will increase when the mechanical equipment contractors install their equipment. Some of this equipment now is being installed.

Includes Four Buildings
The first phase of construction of the campus master plan, now under way, includes four buildings. They are the MacDonald DeWitt Library, a Science Building, a Business Studies Building and an All-Purpose Building. These buildings will have a total gross area of approximately 70,000 square feet.

The first four buildings will be inadequate to meet the anticipated enrollment and curriculum growth of the college. Consequently, portions of the four buildings will have to be used for other purposes than was intended originally until the vitally needed space to be provided by Phase II is ready for college use.

The MacDonald DeWitt Library, the only two-story building on the campus, ultimately will serve as a learning-resources center. But initially, the 17,000 volume library will be housed on the second floor, with the first floor used for classrooms, a language laboratory and certain administrative offices.

To Utilize 3 Labs
The Science Building, designed for six laboratories, also will contain a 120-seat multi-media lecture hall equipped for rear-screen projection and remotely controlled by the instructor. But initially, three laboratories will have to be used for classroom purposes.

The Business Building will be equipped for accounting, retailing and other business courses. (Continued on Page 40, Col. 5)

Viets, 'Berets' Come Out On Top in Jungle Battle

Claims Rickard Beat Brother Several Times

Edward Rossiello, 11-year-old brother of Victor Rossiello, was the second witness called in the Raymond G. Rickard Jr. first degree murder trial in County Court today.

He testified that he had witnessed his brother being beaten with a policeman's night stick on the early morning of Nov. 16, 1964 at the Lake Katrine trailer where he, his mother and Rickard resided.

Told of Pneumonia Death
The witness said he had observed Rickard strike Victor on several occasions during the early hours of the day because Victor was awake and crying.

Later Edward testified that Rickard had told relatives of the dead boy that 2½ year old Victor had died of pneumonia in California when inquiry was made as to where the boy was.

Edward Rossiello, an honor student in Brooklyn where he is presently residing with his grandparents, testified that he and his brother had gone to bed in the trailer living room. Rickard and his mother, Mary Elizabeth Rossiello, had remained up viewing TV.

Repeated Several Times
When Victor awoke around 2 a. m. and began to cry, Rickard took the club from behind the TV set and beat Victor. This was repeated several times during the early morning hours after Rickard had retired.

Shortly before dawn the witness testified, Rickard struck Victor with the club when he continued to cry and later Edward observed that his brother was quiet. Rickard returned from the bedroom and when Victor was unable to stand on his feet, Rickard carried him to the bedroom. Next morning he inquired where Victor was and his mother said his father had taken him away during the night.

Tells of Coast Trip
Edward told of a trip to California and how Rickard had thrown the club in the Grand Canyon.

The witness testified that Rickard had on one occasion told him he had killed Victor and

Health Fears Diminish, Air Pollution Dropping

NEW YORK (AP)—A stagnant air mass trapped a blanket of smog over New York City but fears of a major health hazard diminished.

Officials said air pollution remained about 1½ times the normal amount but had dropped from the critical level it reached Thursday night.

No deaths were attributed to the smog by the city's hospitals. The Weather Bureau forecast cloudiness and some showers in the area, alleviating the air pollution during the morning.

Austin N. Heller, city commissioner of air pollution controls, said the weather pattern is expected "to result in a break-up of the air inversion and in much lower levels of pollution."

Heller said an air pollution reading of 60.6, or five times the average amount, registered at 8 p. m. Thursday may have been the city's highest. Early today it was 18.5.

The count, based on a statistical measurement of sulphur dioxide and carbon monoxide in the air, indicates the amount of harmful substances in the atmosphere. The average reading is 12 and the level considered dangerous is 50.

Part of Massive Inversion
The smog over New York was part of a massive inversion blocking the escape of fumes from the lower atmosphere along areas of the Middle Atlantic Coast.

Heavy pollution was reported in Philadelphia and Boston, where sulphur dioxide in the air reached six times the normal level Thursday. Weather bureaus in both cities predicted there was a chance of relief today or Saturday.

At the smog's height in New York Heller said he was "very

Cong Flees Combat in War Zone C Shells, Planes Hit Reds in Tay Ninh

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Two Vietnamese irregular companies and their U.S. "Green Beret" Special Forces advisers came out on top tonight in heavy combat with a Communist force in the tangled jungles of War Zone C, an American command spokesman announced.

No Casualty Word
A U.S. Army company linked up with the 240 or so irregulars, he said, and "the Viet Cong fled." There was no final report of casualties on either side, though initial advice were that allied losses were light.

American artillery and air strikes had pounded the Communist troops in the action, in Tay Ninh Province nine miles northeast of Tay Ninh City and about 45 miles northwest of Saigon.

Scene of Bloody Fight
North Vietnamese troops wiped out a similar Vietnamese force in the same region a month ago.

The Tay Ninh action was the most spectacular ground contact in a day which saw U.S. 1st Cavalry Division troops chase the Viet Cong up river valleys of the central coast in Binh Dinh Province while 25 Division infantrymen scoured caves in the highlands and found numerous graves.

Fly 101 Missions
U.S. Air Force and Navy planes were beset by weather over North Viet Nam for the eighth day in a row Thursday, but chalked up a total of 101 missions.

U.S. Marine Corps planes were active in South Viet Nam, flying a record 257 sorties against Viet Cong targets, mainly in support of ground operations in the vicinity of the demilitarized zone between the two Viet Nams.

Details were sparse on the Vietnamese strike force action in Tay Ninh province. But at mid-afternoon the force was reported heavily engaged and had suffered light casualties at that point.

Ready Reinforcements
The battle area was in deep jungle. U.S. infantrymen are operating in the same region, and preparations are being made to rush reinforcements into the fight.

U.S. officials, meanwhile, untangled the confusion surrounding the Thanksgiving Day ambush of an American civilian.

National Toll Hits 238 In Accidents on Roads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The toll of traffic deaths in the nation's long Thanksgiving weekend rose slowly today. Deaths thus far in the holiday numbered 238 including 50 victims in the 18-or-under age group.

Ends Sunday Midnight
The tabulation of holiday traffic fatalities began at 6 p. m. (local time) Wednesday and will end at midnight Sunday.

During a recent nonholiday four-day period an Associated Press survey made for comparative purposes showed a total of 546 traffic deaths.

However the National Safety Council did not make an advance estimate of highway deaths for the long weekend. The council said it considers the Thanksgiving period as basically a home holiday which does not involve as much driving as other major holidays.

615 Record in '65
Traffic deaths hit a record high of 615 during the Thanksgiving weekend last year. Since the AP started tabulating highway deaths for the holiday eight years ago the lowest total was 442 in 1960.

Deaths in traffic accidents in the first nine months this year totaled 38,190 a 10 per cent increase over the corresponding period in 1965. The National Safety Council has said that last year's record toll of 49,000 deaths may be surpassed this year.

In the four previous major holidays this year traffic deaths set records marks: New Year 564 Memorial Day 542 Independence Day 576 and Labor Day 636.

Weather Attributed
The crash in which Mrs. Clara Hutchins, 15, of Carthage, was killed was due partly to the weather, according to the Lewis County Sheriff's Department.

Deputies said the area was covered with fog and mist. In New York City, three men died when their automobile crashed through several guard rails on a railroad overpass, landed 20 feet below onto New York Central Railroad tracks.

Files Complaint With State on Liuni Proceedings

Lt. Mario Biaggi, acting on behalf of himself as an individual and as president of the Grand Council of Columbia Associations in Civil Service, Inc., composed of 80,000 civil service workers of Italian extraction, has filed a complaint with the State Commission on Human Rights, charging Ulster County Welfare Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons with an unlawful discriminatory practice in the Liuni adoption proceedings in Kingston. Biaggi contended that his rights, the rights of every Italo-American in New York State and, in fact, the rights of all Americans had been affected by Fitzsimmons' actions.

Makes Visit to Area
Commissioner Fitzsimmons, opposes the adoption of blond, blue-eyed Elizabeth St. John, 4½, by the Michael Liunis of Tilton because, among other things, he claims the Liunis do not match the complexion and ethnic background of Elizabeth, who has lived with the Liunis as a foster-child since she was five days old.

Lt. Biaggi, New York City's most decorated policeman and a former assistant secretary of state, filed the complaint against Fitzsimmons individually and as Ulster County Welfare Commissioner after making a visit to Kingston and nearby Tilton last weekend to continue an investigation he had begun two weeks earlier.

Said Biaggi: "It doesn't matter whether the welfare commissioner considered the ethnic and coloration question as a governing factor or a secondary factor or an incidental factor in his opposition to the adoption. The fact remains that he did use it

Ramallah Under Tight Curfew Again Following Arms Push

JERUSALEM, Jordan Sector (AP)—Troops of Jordan's Arab Legion drove through the streets of Ramallah today firing in the air above slogan-chanting demonstrators demanding arms to fight Israel.

As in Thursday's troubles, the troops fired over the heads of the crowd and there appeared to be no casualties.

Army Rides Back
Ramallah, scene of antigovernment demonstrations for the past three days, was placed under tight curfew again by mid-morning.

A curfew imposed Thursday night had been lifted earlier today, but crowds of Palestine refugees took to the street when the curfew was lifted and the army rode back in to restore order.

Soldiers took positions on rooftops and blocked all access roads to the town, a center for some 40,000 Palestine refugees 10 miles north of Jerusalem.

Nadim Zaru, mayor of Ramallah, told The Associated Press that 10 persons were injured in scuffles with troops Thursday. The stone-throwing demonstrators attacked the building housing the United Nations Relief and Works Agency in Ramallah, smashing most of the windows.

Tension and unrest have been spreading along Jordan's west bank since the Nov. 13 raid by Israel on the village of Samua. Zaru said the municipalities

Work to 'Bleed' Deadly Mine Gas in So. Scranton

SCRANTON Pa. (AP)—There was no long holiday weekend for those drilling holes in the streets of South Scranton searching for an underground mine fire that has filled homes in the area with deadly carbon-monoxide fumes.

Men stood by rotary drills throughout Thanksgiving Day and into today punching holes in the earth they hope will "bleed off" the fumes rising from the subsurface fires.

Mayor James J. Walsh said holes would be drilled until the fire is pinpointed and every effort made to extinguish the blaze that has forced evacuation of some two dozen families. Walsh said this could mean drilling 120 holes.

In the past 48-hours 10 holes were drilled in the continuous effort to get to the source and allow the fumes to escape.

State Inspector Suggests Modern and Adequate Jail

The crowded and rundown condition of the Ulster County Jail as noted in a recent Freeman article has been confirmed by an inspection tour of a state Commission of Correction member.

Richard E. Woodward, senior inspector, in a report to the Commission noted that the only solution from an economical and long-range point of view would be to provide a modern and adequate jail. He added that this would come under the jurisdiction of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors.

A recommendation had been made earlier this year that Ulster County officials advise the Commission by Sept. 1 as to what definite action they proposed to replace the outmoded jail structure, a citation would be issued requiring county officials to show cause why the jail should not be closed.

Due to the outstanding cooperation given the commission by the County Board of Supervisors, the show cause order was

BABSON ON BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

AIR POLLUTION

BABSON PARK, Mass., Nov. 25—Where will you be living in 1991? Will you be in a brick and steel complex connected by miles of asphalt and concrete streets, gasping for breath under a blanket of filthy and polluted air? It may well be . . . unless we act now.

A Most Serious Problem

Over many of our larger cities today, there is a "sea of air" as much as three miles deep. Caught up in this sea is a mixture of mud, grit, smoke, smog, and various gaseous substances. Together, these compose the murky air which we describe as haze and smog.

Dr. Walter Orr Roberts of the U.S. National Centre for Atmospheric Research, Boulder, Colorado points up the seriousness of our air pollution problem in this dire prediction: "In coming years thousands of people will die in our cities simply because they breathe." Dr. Robert warns that this will happen even if we start now on an all-out national program to clean up the dirty air that overhangs our cities and towns and also affects outlying areas. The doctor's warning is confirmed by the U.S. Public Health Service which has declared that air pollution is already a major health hazard in 308 American cities having a total population of 43 million people.

Rising Emery Needs + Indifference = Pollution

Once upon a time, you could look up at a great cloud of smoke hanging in the sky above a city and be pretty sure that it really was smoke. Today, so many different substances comprise this air mass that you can no longer be sure exactly what is lying between the sun and the earth. As our population has increased and as we have become so highly industrialized, our demands for energy and for auto transport have multiplied; our air is poisoned by auto exhausts and by the smoke from power plants. Certainly, they are among the worst offenders. But there are other offenders as well.

Sand, cement, coal, and other substances in the air help to compound the problem. In far too many communities, laws regulating the disposal of industrial wastes are either ignored or poorly enforced. Probably in most cases, the laws themselves are inadequate and need to be revamped and up-dated.

Poisoned Air Pollutes Water Too

The poisons in our air are now also a major contributor to the growing problem of water pollution. We just do not know how many people fall victim to respiratory and virus ailments because of poisonous substances in the air, in our streams, and even on occasion in our drinking water.

Steps are being taken to cut down on the harm rendered by fumes from auto exhausts. If that does not work, we may have to ban cars from downtown areas of the largest cities and—as a health measure—force people to use public transportation in going to and from these areas. If local and state governments prove unequal to the task of cleaning up our air, the federal government will have to act. Perhaps that is the only way we can place a really effective ban on another major contributor to air pollution—the open burning of garbage, leaves, trash and refuse.

More Understanding Needed

We talk about the need for land conservation and water conservation. There is an equally great necessity for air conservation. Neither more stringent laws nor more comprehensive control programs can do the job as quickly and as thoroughly as it must be done. It demands 100 per cent cooperation from people.

The University of Massachusetts has already begun to make people more knowledgeable by offering an extension course on air conservation. Through such study of the basics of meteorology and their role in air pollution, we can acquire more information about air quality criteria and types of air pollutants. "Knowledge is power." Armed with it, we can lick this problem and produce a healthier, happier, more prosperous nation in the bargain. But this will be possible only if we act on this knowledge now.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Nov. 25, the 329th day of 1966. There are 36 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1950, gales of almost hurricane strength, accompanied by rain and snow, swept 22 states from the East Coast to the Midwest causing some $400 million in damage and taking 278 lives.

On this date:

In 1834, Delmonico's Restaurant in New York announced that a meal of soup, tea or coffee and half a pie would cost 12 cents.

In 1835, Andrew Carnegie, manufacturer and philanthropist, was born.

In 1922, Benito Mussolini was granted dictatorial powers in Italy.

In 1940, the first large Selective Service groups entered the Army.

Ten years ago—Eight U.S. Air Force B52 bombers completed record, non-stop flights of up to 17,000 miles, demonstrating their ability to deliver nuclear bombs to any point in the world.

Five years ago President Kennedy granted an exclusive interview to the editor of the Soviet government newspaper "Izvestia," Alexei Adzhubei, a son-in-law of Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev. The interview was held at the president's Hyannis Port, Mass., home.

One year ago—An explosion and fire in a Keokuk, Iowa, armory during a Thanksgiving eve square dance took 21 lives.

Man Is Indicted In $1 Slaying

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A Monroe County grand jury has indicted a 54-year-old man who, State Police said, shot and killed another man during an argument over $1.

Peter Hursey of nearby Hamlin was indicted on second-degree murder and illegal weapons possession charges. The indictments were returned Wednesday.

Police have accused Hursey, a farm laborer, of shooting Chester Robinson, 66, of Rochester. They charged Hursey with second-degree murder and illegal possession of a .22 caliber pistol.

Troopers said the two men argued after Robinson claimed Hursey owed him $1 for a ride in his automobile to Kendall, west of here.

Newborn Found Dead, Identity Is Sought

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Police searched today for the identity of a newborn infant whose decomposed body, wrapped in pink cloth, was found in a field in suburban Amherst.

The field's owner came upon the body Thursday while walking nearby, police said.

An Erie County medical examiner, Louis C. Mead, said the child appeared to have lived only a short time and had been dead for about two weeks. Its sex could not be determined immediately because of the decomposition, he said.

After being wrapped in pink quilted cloth, police said, the child had been placed in a leather cosmetic case.

The field is off Hopkins Road.

Charge Syracuse Man in Death

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A 35-year-old Syracuse man died early today of injuries suffered in a beating and another Syracuse man was charged with first-degree manslaughter.

Police said Willie White was found bleeding profusely from head wounds in the apartment of Mrs. Mary Polk Thursday night. He died early today in St. Joseph's Hospital here.

Ernest Taylor, 40, was picked up at his apartment and charged with manslaughter. He was taken to the Syracuse Public Safety Bldg.

Police said Mrs. Polk, mother of three, gave this account of the incident:

Taylor was visiting in her apartment when White walked in. An argument followed by a fight ensued between the two men and Mrs. Polk ran to a neighbor's apartment where she telephoned the police.

When Mrs. Polk returned to her apartment, Taylor was gone and White was lying on the living room floor.

White lived at 1611 E. Fayette St. Taylor resides at 513 N. State St. Mrs. Polk lives at 103 Dablon Ct.

Boy, 12, Strangled

MIFFLINBURG, Pa. (AP)—A boy was strangled Thursday, police said, when drawstrings on his hooded jacket became entangled in the power train of a tractor.

Police said Kenneth H. Knechel, 12, was working on his father's farm when the accident occurred.

Democrats Blame GOP as Con-Ed Power Rates Jump

NEW YORK (AP)—Consolidated Edison electricity rates go up today an average of 35 cents a month with Democrats accusing the Republican state administration of not protecting consumers.

Under a seldom-used section of the law the Public Service Commission permitted Con Ed to raise rates 3.35 per cent until it holds a public hearing.

Rep. William F. Ryan, Manhattan Democrat, called Thursday for an investigation by the Federal Power Commission of the rate hike.

The conspiracy between Governor Rockefeller, his Public Service Commission and the public-be-damned utility known as Consolidated Edison has now been exposed," he said in a telegram to the federal agency.

Ryan charged that the state commission waited until after Governor Rockefeller's re-election on Nov. 8 to approve the increase.

State Sen. Paul E. Bookson,

Manhattan Democrat, said Thursday he would file a bill in the Legislature to abolish the state commission.

"Obviously the P.S.C. wanted to delay the increase until after the election," he said.

City Council President Frank D. O'Connor, Rockefeller's Democratic election opponent, has also attacked the governor and Con Ed on the increase.

Con Ed applied for the raise affecting 2.9 million consumers

July 28, intending to put it into effect Sept. 26. But the commission ordered action held off until today so it could investigate the application.

The utility has said its rate of return on investments is 5.3 per cent and the state commission has decided that 6.2 per cent is a fair rate.

The commission has promised that if it finds that Con Ed is not entitled to the raise it will order refunds.

Charge 2nd Man In $2,500 Robbery, Beating Upstate

LYONS, N.Y. (AP)—A second man stood charged today by State Police in connection with the $2,500 robbery and beating of a supermarket manager in nearby Wolcott.

Troopers arrested Johnny Jones, 37, of Wolcott, Wednesday night on a Washington-bound bus at Painted Post, near Corning. He was charged with first-degree robbery and sent to Wayne County Jail here in lieu of $25,000 bail.

Troopers said Jones told them he was headed for Cocoa Beach, Fla.

Already in custody was Roosevelt Mitchell, 35, of Wolcott, who was charged Wednesday with first-degree robbery and first-degree assault.

Troopers said the two robbed and beat John R. Burt, 54, Tuesday night as he and his wife were closing the A&P supermarket in Wolcott, which he managed.

Burt was clubbed with a sawed-off shotgun and lost several teeth, troopers said, resulting in his hospitalization.

They said most of the $2,500 in cash and checks was recovered.

George Day Dies, Church Composer

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP)—Dr. George Day, a church organist, choir director and composer, is dead at the age of 83.

Day died Wednesday at Geneva General Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Some of Day's more than 400 religious cantatas and anthems were performed by the Rochester and the Philadelphia Symphonic orchestras.

Day, who held a doctorate in music, started his career at St. Peter's Episcopal Church in New York City. He later served Episcopal churches in Youngstown, Ohio, Wilmington, Del., and Rochester, N.Y., before coming to Trinity Episcopal Church in Geneva, where he served for 32 years.

He was a graduate of the New York College of Music and New York University.

He is survived by three daughters, two sisters and 14 grandchildren.

Services and burial will be conducted here Saturday.

Day lived at 200 N. Main St., Geneva.

School Library Notes

Accord Elementary School children are reading more and more books—mostly adventure and mystery stories—in spite of crowded conditions and only a part-time librarian in the school's 2,154-volume library.

Voluntary mothers of the Parent-Teacher-Friends organization are making this possible by giving generously of their time in daily library assistance. From helping to bring the right child and the right book together, to filing cards and shelving books, their assistance is invaluable.

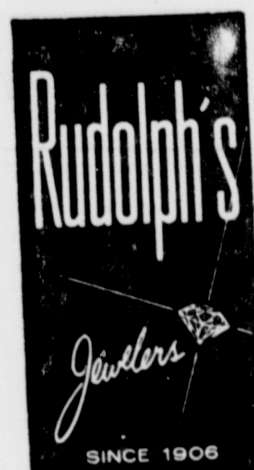

Children, teachers, mothers and everyone concerned with the school are looking forward to the completion of the new library quarters where there will be more room for pupils and books. Among the new books are the latest edition of the World Book Encyclopedia and of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia, both of which will aid the children in their reference work.

Firemen Annoyed, Too

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A light-flashing device designed to discourage pigeons from roosting on the city-owned Edgerson Park Stadium has left firemen, as well as the birds, annoyed.

Since the device was installed two weeks ago, firemen said, they have received almost nightly calls from nearby residents that the stadium was on fire.

The callers keep mistaking the eerie flashes of white, red and green lights for flames, firemen say.

HOOR OF DECISION

Recognition that the Ulster County Community Chest is giving contributors 100 cents worth of community service for every dollar provided for the member agencies is evidenced in the alacrity of response by the more than 40 leaders of organizations in Ulster County to the Radio-Videathon Saturday, December 3.

We heartily recommend the wholehearted support of this final effort to raise the $49,000 needed to meet the vital needs of the Chest's participating agencies. Money contributed to the Chest is budgeted and spent wisely and fairly in the greatest public interest. Much of the work of the member agencies and the Chest is done by volunteers who receive no pay. These public spirited citizens assume responsibility for the administration of the funds. Directly or indirectly everyone of us benefit from the work of the agencies.

An enthusiastic, hard-working committee of volunteers under capable leadership directed the campaign which was well prepared, co-ordinated and executed, but the main factor is the individual efforts of all the people.

In the staging of the Radio-Videathon, the people will be afforded a further opportunity to display an increased willingness to support these essential community agencies by pledging or contributing through their favorite organization.

George Tamke, associate fund drive chairman, summed up the importance of this final event when he declared "This is one opportunity for the citizens of Ulster County to do something that's really rewarding as well as attention getting. An event like this, in which the entire community participates, has very likely never happened before.

This is a tremendous opportunity to put Ulster County on the map, not only in Ulster County, but all over the United States."

The spontaneous response to participate in the radiothon by the local organizations, which represent every worthwhile civic endeavor in the community, is of the utmost importance. Charles Raible, one of the outstanding leaders of this year's financial campaign, cogently remarked:

"The program has two goals. The first and most obvious one, is to help raise the final $49,000 which is still needed to meet the minimum financial requirements of the member agencies of the Ulster County Community Chest.

"The second and equally important is the goal of showing once and for all that Ulster County wants the Community Chest and is willing to demonstrate their enthusiasm by participating in this telethon.

"We've reached an hour of decision and it's the community's decision, not the Community Chest's decision. The decision is a simple one. Do we have a Community Chest or don't we?"

There is something about making a goal for the Community Chest that gives a community a good feeling.

KEEP YOUR CAR LOCKED

Lock your car campaign is underway here to emphasize the necessity for motorists to lock their automobiles when parking on streets, in lots or in driveways alongside their homes.

The disappearances of motor vehicles in most instances are attributed to "joy rides" by young people who seem to think it smart to take a car, drive it around for a while and then drop it. A youth should stop and think twice before committing such a crime. The law deals very harshly with this type of larceny.

It is a sad commentary, but nevertheless true that during the Christmas holiday season there is an increase of the thefts of articles from cars. Locking your car is a good way to insure against the loss of merchandise you purchased for your Christmas gifts.

URGE TO BE ACTIVE

President Johnson's behavior in the first few days after his two operations suggests that he is making a remarkably quick recovery. It also suggests that he is a man who likes to prove things about himself.

What we have in mind, particularly, is the chief executive's insistence on taking the wheel of his beloved white limousine

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
THE RUTINIAN VIEW OF THE RED CHINESE QUESTION

The Foreign Minister of Ruritania was laughing at his sleeve. "It's this Red China issue week at the UN," he said. "If there really is a Mao Tse-tung, and not just an effigy that is trotted out on the stage for the benefit of visiting Red Guard, he must be thinking the whole world outside Red China is nuts.

"Here the world is solemnly debating extending him an invitation to join a club when he has no intention whatsoever of accepting. It's not a question of the western nations blackbailing him, he's already blackballed them. He's told Skull and Bones to go to hell before they've tapped him. True, he has said that he would enter on one condition. That condition is that the capitalist members of the club be expelled once they have provided the majority vote needed to get him in. The black widow spider couldn't have thought up a better one.

"But," so the Foreign Minister of Ruritania continued, "this business of asking someone to kick you in the head in the name of 'universality' is not the most absurd feature of the UN's Red China issue week. It's the behavior of the Soviet Communist bloc that's really something for old Aristotle to ponder. It was only two weeks ago that Mr. Brezhnev, the Russian Communist chief, turned up at an international Communist shindig in Bulgaria to call for excommunicating the Red Chinese from what would be the Comintern if the Communists still had a Comintern. What Brezhnev was saying to his buddies at the Sofia conference was that Mao Tse-tung is not fit to associate with any decent, self-respecting western Marxist. He was telling the world that Mao is a bum and who needs bums.

"Just a couple of weeks later, however, the Soviet Communist bloc is all for inviting the bum to associate with them in the UN. If you were in Mao Tse-tung's shoes, what would you make of this sort of Humpty Dumpty logic? I'll tell you what Mao makes of it. He's saying to himself that if he isn't good enough to be in a Comintern with the Muscovites and the Prague and the Warsaw Communists, there must be some joker in the deal to get him into the UN with the same gang. He must see that Brezhnev is trying to bait a trap.

"And, of course, this is precisely what the Russians are up to. They haven't been able to handle Mao Tse-tung inside their own movement. But maybe if they could count on U. S. and British and Canadian votes, they could chew him up inside the UN.

"Well, if Mao Tse-tung won't accept those blankety-blank Moscow 'revisionists' on a free-speech-for-Marxists basis, why would he want to associate with them in a club that also includes capitalists? He would only want to do it if it promised to give him a winning hand. He knows he's not going to get such a hand in a world organization in which he and the Albanians would be a minority.

"There are," so the Foreign Minister of Ruritania mused, "refinements in the idiocy being proposed at the UN. From the United States point of view the proposal to recognize Red China as the sole Chinese government is barbarous. If the Formosa Chinese were to be kicked out of the UN, and the Maoist Chinese installed in their place, it would serve notice to every little nation in Asia that the U. S. has just about as much strength and reliability as a day-old bamboo shoot. Fortunately, the Formosa Chinese seem to have the votes this year to stop the so-called Albanian resolution that calls for their expulsion. But the Italians have come up with something that would be sheer torture for the Formosa Chinese. The Italian idea of forming a committee to 'study' the whole business for a year would almost certainly result in a report recommending 'two Chinas' solution. And by then the UN would be softened up to the point of voting membership to the 'two Chinas'.

"Neither, of course, would accept. But think how foolish and weak it would make the UN—and the U. S.—feel to be turned down by both Chinas. If this is your idea of good diplomacy, then I'm in the wrong racket as a foreign minister."

The DOCTOR SAYS

Declare War on Mosquitoes

To Curb Sleeping Sickness

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Among the diseases that can be spread by mosquitoes one of the most serious, not in the number of persons affected but in the disability and death it causes, is encephalitis (brain fever or sleeping sickness). A recent outbreak of this disease in Texas resulted in more than 100 cases with at least 11 deaths. Unlike malaria, another mosquito-borne disease, encephalitis is caused by a virus and may be spread by several different types of mosquitoes. It may also be spread, but less commonly, by certain mites and ticks.

Like many other infectious diseases it starts with chills, fever and headache. These are followed in a day or two by dizziness, drowsiness, stiff neck, convulsions and delirium. Since there is no specific treatment for this disease, an all-out effort is made to control the mosquitoes in the areas where it occurs.

In Texas this was done by the aerial spraying of a powerful insecticide, taking care to keep the concentration well within limits that are harmless to human beings.

Q—I am a housewife, 62. What would cause little fleshy bumps to pop up on my neck and shoulders? Is there any way to get rid of them?

A—You may have neurofibromatosis (von Recklinghausen's disease), a condition in which many small fibrous tumors of the nerve endings occur in the skin. Although the disease is hereditary, the tumors do not appear until late in life. These tumors are benign and will not affect your health. There is no treatment except surgical removal, and since there are so many of the tumors this is advised only for those that become so large that they cause pressure or discomfort.

for a spin in the environs of the LBJ ranch though doctors had told him he should not drive for three or four weeks. Mrs. Johnson drove to church on November 20 but the President, only five days after his surgery, drove around town and then back to the ranch after church.

This prompts a mixture of feelings. Two components of the mixture are dismay and an impulse to congratulate LBJ for spunky refusal to give in to discomfort. It is good to know that he is doing so well. Even so, one wishes that he would not press his luck quite so relentlessly. Even a President is well advised to take it a bit easier for awhile after surgery—in short, to follow the doctors' orders. Still, there's nothing to be done about it but hope that LBJ's instinctive yen to be up and doing will serve him well.

EXTRA RISK IN THE WOODS

It would be wise for you to stay out of the woods for the next couple of weeks if you are careless and inexperienced with a gun. There are two especially perilous members among those who are out for deer. First we have the young fellow who is inexperienced in handling a gun, inclined to be impetuous and unable to use proper judgment, and secondly the big city man who has little if any hunting finesse and too many snorts to start off the day.

Washington News

BY RAY CROMLEY

The man was one of Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky's close advisors and he was angry. A general had attempted to arrest him because of a personal difference of opinion on policy in a political matter.

"He sent officers to Premier Ky's own offices to take me. But I am not so easy to arrest."

The general had no warrant and no legal basis for the attempted arrest. But he's one of the dozen most powerful generals in South Viet Nam and he can usually do what he wants.

This time he wasn't successful.

This arresting without warrant and on whom is back of Ky's current cabinet crisis in which seven ministers have threatened to resign.

Though Ky is the prime minister, he isn't back of the arrests. Some of his close friends are victims. But powerful generals in the coalition take advantage of their strength and take the law into their own hands.

This deep and uneasy problem may haunt the government and the war effort for months to come. It won't be solved by Ky's accepting the resignations of all seven unhappy cabinet ministers or his persuading all or part of them to carry on.

One deputy cabinet minister recently was arrested under such illegal circumstances. His arrest, apparently solely on the will of one general, set off a shock wave of fear among Ky's civilian cabinet ministers. There were references to police state methods. Some said it smacked of methods the Communists would use.

Ky is faced with dilemma. To an outsider, the solution seems absurdly simple. He should either get his generals to change their methods or remove them from their posts.

But in today's South Viet Nam that is not so easy.

Power in Ky's coalition government is so finely balanced that he doesn't have the strength to restrain these generals.

The problem is all the more difficult when, as in the case of the national police chief, the general is one of Ky's strongest personal supporters. Ky needs every one of his supporters in order to hold his own.

The problem goes back to the uneasy coalition which now rules South Viet Nam under Ky's leadership. Ky presides over the coalition, but the balance of power is so delicate in Saigon that if Ky lost this man's support his government might well fall.

This shifting out of poor men at U. S. suggestion was what caused the downfall of Premier Quat and the end of the last civilian government of Saigon.

View Collateral Benefits For U. S. From China Study

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — On the surface it might appear that the United States government has made a significant change in its policy on the highly controversial subject of admitting Red China into the United Nations. But there is good reason to believe that it is more of a tactical move at this time than a clear-cut solution to the problem.

An impasse on the question had developed at the U. N. for which the United States was being blamed. Yet the truth is that Red China has not been eager to join the United Nations. To clear the atmosphere and pinpoint the responsibility for the anomalous situation, the American government now has taken a favorable attitude toward a resolution backed by Italy, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile and other countries proposing a comprehensive "study" of the whole problem and particularly what are called the "Political Realities."

The American ambassador to the United Nations, Arthur Goldberg, reiterated this week, however, that the United States does not intend to repudiate its commitment to Nationalist China "and leave Peiping a free hand to take over the people and territory of Formosa."

Up to now, the Peiping government has been strongly opposed to all suggestions that it be admitted to the United Nations on a basis agreeable to the majority of the United Nations members. The new resolution, of course, has in mind "two Chinas." But is doesn't actually propose such a formula and merely recommends that a "study" be made.

The United States has nothing to lose and everything to gain by a "study," because it will bring out into the open whether Red China intends to be a peaceful member of the United Nations and to respect the provisions of its charter or whether it plans to continue its irresponsible course.

If Peiping, therefore, blocks any formula for "two Chinas," and insists on control of Formosa, the whole world will recognize that an imperialistic policy is behind Red China's expressions of opposition to membership in the U. N.

There will be some collateral benefits to the United States, moreover, from the debate and the new "study." Red China will have to discuss the problem openly, and unquestionably this will permeate the political groups and factions inside Red China, where there are already signs of serious dissension.

The United States has gained a point in that the new resolution itself, which is sure to be adopted shortly, merely asks that a committee explore the questions and recommend "an equitable and practical solution." There will be time enough later to take a stand on whether the United States should agree to a bigger role for Red China than has hitherto been envisaged.

There are reasons for believing that the United States would not object to Red China's membership in the United Nations insofar as the mainland area is concerned, but would oppose any rearrangement of the Security Council so as to give the Peiping regime the seat now held by Nationalist China. To bestow on Red China the privileges of a veto, which could block any action the Security Council might take on any subject hereafter, would obviously be detrimental to the future of the U. N. and might even cause a breakup of the whole organization.

The United States, to be sure, would not agree even to a membership for Mainland China in the General Assembly unless there was evidence that the Communist Chinese had renounced their policies of aggression. For there is still on the record a resolution, adopted by the United Nations in 1951, formally declaring Red China an aggressor in Korea. This declaration has not been erased, and the Korean war has never been formally ended by a peace treaty.

The United States, on the other hand, welcomes a full and frank discussion in the public forums of the world so that this government will no longer be accused of blocking any country from membership in the United Nations. It will instead be shown as anxious to see any nation admitted that will pledge itself to obey the provisions and principles of the U. N. Charter itself.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Rollo was mad about his wife. Utterly. She was a tall skinny woman who looked as though she had been on the rack too long. She entranced him by retreating with her hair full of toilet tissue curlers. She slept with a tiny pillow under her neck. If her nails weren't dry, she corked off with the hands in air.

Still, there was no marital combination like Rollo and Ruby. He was short and snowy-haired. Most of his fat had sagged into his sox. Every day he played golf. And every Christmas, she gave him a new bag and new clubs to replace the ones he had tossed into the lake last summer.

He may be the only man who played the Hollywood course in Deal, N. J., in a blizzard. Ruby didn't mind the daily golf, because it gave her time to shop. She had a bargain compulsion. No matter what was on sale, she had to buy it if the price was marked down.

They had a four-room apartment in Asbury Park, with seven rooms of furniture in it. Ruby said she bought because she was nervous. She had enough beds and bureaus in the cellar to start her own motel. One day she went out and bought a breakfast. This was the straw that cracked Rollo's arches.

At dinner, he forced a wedge of grapefruit into his face and said: "What's a breakfast?" Ruby explained it. Her hand gestures were so magnificent that her husband understood. "You mean a sideboard," he said. "Or maybe a china closet?"

Ruby sniffed. "Those terms were all right in your mother's day," she said, "but now they call them breakfasts."

"When is it coming?" Rollo said. The man, she said, was puting it together. "Then how comes he jams a bill for $800 down my throat? Does this breakfast play music?" No, it didn't. It was a period piece and Ruby wanted it to display her good dishes. "Eight hundred clams," he moaned. "We'll be eating off paper plates."

This only made Ruby more nervous, so she went into the bedroom and did her hair again. "Don't neglect the throat too," Rollo yelled. Ten days later, the breakfast arrived. The moving men got the superintendent and he said that there was no way of getting the monstrosity up to the fifth floor.

It was so fascinating that Rollo gave up his golf for the day. He stayed home to watch. The men had to get a crane to lift the breakfast up the outside of the building. "Do I pay for this?" Rollo asked the workmen. The superintendent said that the use of the crane would run to maybe $150.

They had to take the sash out of a double window, but it was worth the extra money. When everyone had been paid off, the breakfast had cost $1,000. There was only one hitch. Ruby couldn't find any place to put it. For the time being, it was put where the dining room table belonged. Rollo took a look and went into the bathroom and did his hair.

Two chairs and a sofa had to be surrendered. The superintendent said there was no more room in the cellar. He suggested that Rollo open his own little warehouse, or maybe rent a store and go into business. Ruby thought that the superintendent was insolent. He made her nervous.

When it was all straightened out, the breakfast dominated the apartment. No one ever saw a chair or table. The breakfast looked like the entrance to a Shinto temple. Rollo told his relatives grimly, that he had paid for the breakfast and it was going to stay just where it was, forever.

No matter where anyone walked in that apartment, they had to walk around the breakfast. Once, when he was irritated, Rollo tried to hit it with a golf ball, but he missed. Just like his puts.

Both Rollo and Ruby lived with the breakfast so long that they no longer saw it. Six months ago, he decided to move. No one thought about the breakfast until some wise guy in-law said: "How are you going to get the monster out of here? The window again?"

Rollo stared at his lovely wife. "Funny," she said, "I don't even like it anymore." Rollo shook his head sadly. "You know why, sweetheart? It's because you are four chairs, two beds and a scatter rug beyond that breakfast. That is why, my China doll, you don't care what happens to it. Well, I can tell you one thing. That breakfast has no more chance of going out the window than you have. On second thought, less."

Rollo is well known in his community. A solid citizen of substance who is known to be a little nutty on the question of golf. Other than that, he is almost sane. That's why everyone was surprised last week when he was picked up driving through Allenhurst with his arm out the window.

The cop who snatched him said he had been watching Rollo every night for a long time. The charge was dropping splinters out of a moving vehicle.

Married Girl, 15, Killed in Crash

CASTORLAND, N. Y. (AP)—A 15-year-old, married girl was injured fatally Thursday when the automobile in which she was riding slammed into a utility pole and a tree on a fog-enveloped rural road near here.

The Lewis County Sheriff's Department identified the girl as Mrs. Clara A. Hutchins of nearby Carthage. A companion, Betty Sabo, 14, of Lowville, was reported in fair condition at Carthage Area Hospital, where Mrs. Hutchins died.

Deputies said fog and mist cut visibility to near-zero on the road near this village southeast of Watertown.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Friends:
Don't you just love candles when they don't fit in your candelabra?
Especially if they are too small to fit that little holder? Well, I learned a lesson when I bought a new brand of candles and half of them were too small to fit firmly in the socket.
We know that we can always twist foil around the candle bottoms, or wrap plastic wrap around them . . . and if they are too big to insert in the holder, we can put the ends in a cup of boiling water until they melt a bit, and then mash them in.
Trying to find still a better way to make my small candles fit, I took some small rubber bands and wrapped them tightly around the base of the candle, then dipped the ends in warm water and inserted them into the holder. Hugs and snugs it real tight!
Be sure and stretch the rubber bands so they will be around the bottom tightly.
Heloise

Dear Heloise:
Frozen dinner trays make good substitute plates for toddlers as they don't break when dropped or thrown on the floor! Also the raised sides of the divided sections make it easier for little ones to scoop up food.
Ann Cunningham

Dear Heloise:
Whenever I send a check to a company I don't use often, I write the address on the check entry line in my checkbook.
I already have entered the name of the company, and it's easy to add the address and keep the whole record together.
Nancy Williams

Dear Heloise:
I have come across a wonderful idea for ladies with the new "short-cut" hair styles.

If you have trouble setting the back, which is too short for regular rollers, try using your little girl's doll's rollers.
It's just enough to turn those ends under and it has worked wonderfully for me.
B. Robinson

Dear Heloise:
My baby has outgrown his bassinet so I use it now for a portable sewing basket.
I'm embroidering a bedspread, and it's so easy to handle when I can keep the bulk of it in the basket while I work.
Whenever I have time, I just wheel the bassinet out next to my chair, and scissors, floss, etc., are right there.
Mrs. Wilbur Lewis

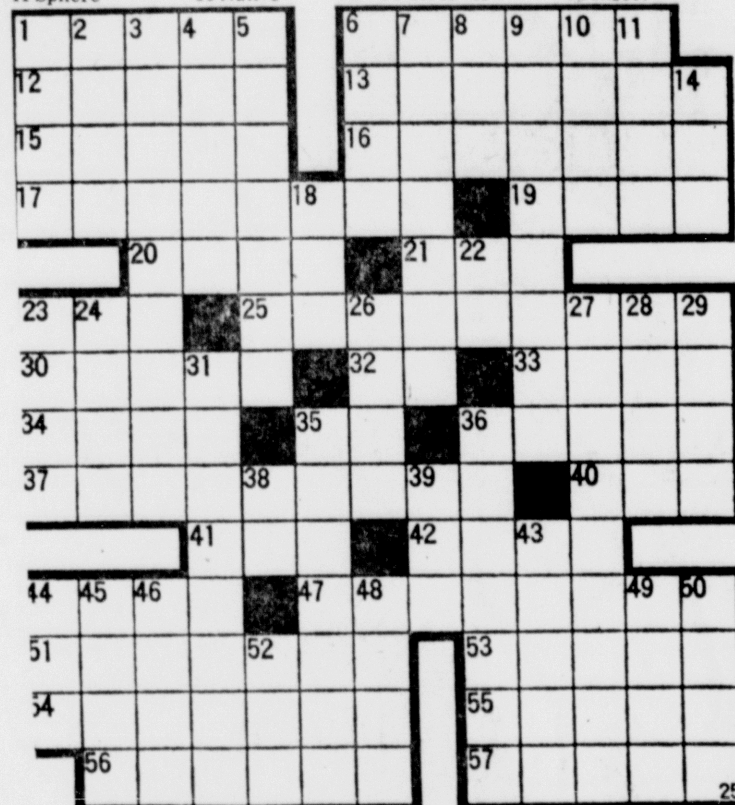

Dear Heloise:
While shopping, my little three-year-old usually gets mighty thirsty.
It's really hard for a child to get a drink from a fountain, and he usually gets wet, too.
I placed a plastic straw in the stream of water and found my little one could get a good drink without getting wet.
Now I always carry a couple of straws in my purse when we go shopping.
Mrs. John Dabzeniecki

Dear Heloise:
If I just have a bit of varnish left over, I put it in a small glass jar, grease the neck well with shortening and put the lid on.
The lid is easily removable and the closed jars will keep the varnish from drying or forming a scum on top.

Virginia Apples Down

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP) — Virginia has harvested a smaller-than-usual apple harvest this year.
The crop of 5.1 million bushels, compares with 10.5 million bushels last year and a five-year average of 9.9 million bushels.
Officials blamed the weather.

Students 18-22 Are Eligible for Social Security

"If you are a student between 18 and 22, and the son or daughter of a working parent who is retired or disabled, or who has just died, you may be eligible for a monthly benefit check from social security."
George J. Habernig, social security district manager in Kingston, explained that the 1965 Amendments to the Social Security Act provided for student benefits in order to encourage and aid young people in continuing their education. To qualify, the student must be in full time attendance at an accredited high school, vocational school, college, junior college, or university.

Habernig urges a visit to the local office or social security and get the facts. Representatives there will discuss the requirements and help complete applications for the benefits.
Anyone who is now receiving social security benefits and is under 18, will have his or her monthly benefits continue until they are 22, if they remain in school. All they will need to do is advise the Social Security Administration of their school attendance beyond age 18.
Young people who had their social security benefits stopped when they became 18, should apply again if they are full-time students under 22.

Have To Apply

Habernig urges a visit to the local office or social security and get the facts. Representatives there will discuss the requirements and help complete applications for the benefits.

Glaucoma, Diabetes Clinic Held in Paltz

A combined clinic for glaucoma and diabetes was held at the New Paltz Medical Center Nov. 19. The glaucoma clinic was sponsored by the Lions Club as part of their program of sight conservation.
During the afternoon, 89 persons were checked for glaucoma. Of this group, eight persons were found to require further examination and these persons were notified at the time of the clinic. This was the second year for the Glaucoma Detection Clinic.
Ninety persons had a urine analysis for sugar in a diabetes screening clinic sponsored by the Rotary Club. The diabetes detection clinic was held in connection with National Diabetes Week, Nov. 13-19. Of the 90 persons tested, five were found to have sugar in the urine. These persons have been notified and further testing has been arranged.

Food Prices Slow Steady Climb

By SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — There is happy news in the supermarkets this holiday season.

Wholesale food prices have slowed their steady climb, and may ease the strain on the family food budget in the weeks ahead.

Some Actually Dropped

Last February, wholesale food prices were running 14.9 per cent higher than the previous year. This week they were up only .02 per cent.

Beef dropped this week, and so did bacon, butter and coffee. That is at the wholesale level. The lower prices may show up at retail stores this winter.

Some stores already have cut prices, so it pays to check advertised specials. Steak may be down one day and up a few days later.

A major supermarket chain in the New York area, for instance, cut the price of sirloin 30 cents a pound early this week and put it back up for today. But it cut pork chops 20 cents and leg of lamb 10 for the week-end.

Butter dropped 2 cents a pound this week in New York. Pork prices are down again. Loins dropped 2 to 4 cents a pound on the West Coast this week. In Chicago, bacon is selling for 69 to 89 cents a pound, down 20 per cent in the last month.

Beef prices took a jump on the West Coast this week, with ribs up 4 to 5 cents a pound in Portland, Ore.

Broilers are down in the Southwest.

Weather Hits Some

Bad weather and rising labor costs have cut into the rest of the menu.

Frost damaged the Idaho potato crop in October, and hot, dry weather shriveled crops in the Midwest and East. Hurricane Inez cut into plantings in southern Florida intended for harvest this winter.

What it adds up to is higher prices for peas, beans, tomato juice, onions, sweet potatoes, sauerkraut, lettuce and apple and grape-based juices.

But pears, cling peaches and fruit cocktail are down, along with carrots, canned salmon and cranberries. And so are citrus juices.

It looks like a huge crop of oranges this year.

Vast Forest

One hundred miles of Forest Service roads, 1,000 miles of foot trails, 11 picnic and 16 camping areas, 47 lakes and ponds and 650 miles of fishable streams are located in the vast White Mountain National Forest in New Hampshire.

CBS Will Pay $800,000 Each For Film Features

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Can the movie industry make brand new feature movies for television and still turn a profit?

That is the question that producers are mulling over, now that the networks are feeling the need for such a product. With the dwindling of supplies of theatrical movies that have not yet been released to television, new ones will be needed.

As part of a deal with MGM, CBS will pay $800,000 apiece for 18 future films. It appears that these movies will be released in theaters first, then on television. The network reasons that the publicity of a theatrical release can only help the films' appeal for television viewers.

All New Films

NBC has ordered a schedule of films from Universal for an undisclosed amount. Three of these "world premiere" films will be shown on the Tuesday Night Movie, five on Saturday night. The first appears Saturday night: "Fame is the Name of the Game," a comedy-mystery with Tony Franciosa, Jill St. John, Nanette Fabray, Lee Bowman and Jay C. Flippen.

Universal's Jennings Lang explained the economics of the features-for-television.

"We can make them for an average of a million dollars, and at that price they are economically sound. Prices for features are going up, and we can get added revenue from showing some of the films overseas: of the first ten, I'd say about four would do well in foreign theaters.

"The features are also helpful as pilots for series. Our next three are designed with that in mind — 'I Love a Mystery' with Les Crane, 'Ironside' with Raymond Burr, and 'Outsider' with Darrin McGavin or Harry Guardino."

No Top Stars

Lang said the new features are comparable to the regular movie product with these exceptions: They won't be spectacles with mob scenes and huge sets; the films can't afford million-dollar stars like Paul Newman and Julie Andrews; nor can they hire top directors like Billy Wilder or William Wyler.

"On the other hand, I have been talking to foreign directors like Fellini, Dassin, Richardson and Godard about making films for us next year," Lang said. "I told Fellini: 'How would you like to show your Rome to 40 million Americans?' He was excited about the idea."

In at least two respects, the new features may be better on television than movies made for theaters, Lang said. Directors are instructed to frame their shots so figures on the edge of the screen won't disappear. Also, the score is edited to provide more adroit transitions for commercial breaks.

Lang, a large, bearish man of vast enthusiasm, sees the features-for-television as the wave of the future.

Report 4 City Burglaries, Car Theft On Holiday

Local police were notified of four burglaries and a car theft over the holiday.

An unknown amount of cash was reported taken from a juke box and game machine plus some beer and liquor in the White Eagle Hall, Delaware Avenue. Entrance was gained by the breaking of a window on the Jarrold Street side of the building.

Also entered was the building of the O'Reilly Office Equipment Company Inc., 611 Broadway, but nothing was reported missing from there. A side window was reported broken.

A small amount of cash was reported taken from the Thomas

Welch grocery store, 10 Pine Street, and some beer and candy were stolen from the St. James Grocery, 83 St. James Street. Entrance to both was by the forcing of rear doors.

A car owned by Thomas Doyle, of 71 Lafayette Avenue, reported stolen from near there in the afternoon, was recovered Thursday night on Linderman Avenue by Officer Duncan Greene.

Centerville Checks High Woods Blaze

Centerville fire units were called out shortly after 11:45 p. m. Thursday after fire was discovered near the roof boards in the Riley residence at High Woods.

Chief Granville Myer was in charge. He said it was necessary to tear away some roof boards to get at the fire.

At 11:26 a. m. yesterday, the same companies responded to a fire call reporting a house fire, but on arrival firemen found a minor brush fire that burned out of control.

At 6:08 a. m. yesterday, Woodstock firemen responded to a call for an overheated stove. At 2:18 p. m. Accord volunteers checked a brush fire, and at 2:46 p. m. Highland extinguished a garage fire, according to records at the Fire Control Center.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME Registered U. S. Patent Office By JIMMY HATLO

Outline New Rules For Registration Of Motor Vehicles

A new law, now in effect, for renewals during December 1966 through March 1967, makes all passenger cars and most other vehicles subject to the State's periodic inspection program, no matter what their model year.

In order to renew a registration now, car owners must show proof that their vehicle has passed inspection at a State-licensed station some time during the 12 months before renewal. This proof will be the inspection station's stamp on the back of the renewal stub of the present registration.

Vehicles of 1961 model and older must have had the inspection made according to the schedule on the back of their windshield sticker. Newer model cars may have had the inspection made anytime during the last 12 months.

Some Not Covered
This provision does not apply to "special purpose commercial" vehicles, motorcycles, police and fire vehicles, agricultural tractors and certain other specialized types of vehicles not previously subjected to inspection.

Car owners are reminded that if their address is not shown correctly on the punch card, they should just cross out the wrong address and write in the right one in the space provided. Items left blank may be filled in, but if there are other errors, or if the car owners have any question, they should write or call the nearest Motor Vehicle office. It is time to renew the registration for the vehicle described on punch cards that are now being mailed. Last year, the vehicle may have been registered for more than 12 months, to enable the Department of Motor Vehicles to stagger the expiration dates of all registrations and end the annual January plate rush.

Full 12 Months Now
This year, and from now on, car owners will be for a full 12 months, expiring at the same time each year. Just before it expires, car owners will receive a prefilled out punch card application like the one they will receive in the mail, to remind each car owner that renewal time has come. The blue and yellow plates received for 1966 will be updated

New Library Books

The following popular fiction and non-fiction books were received this week at Kingston Library:

Fiction
Chamber, The Day It Rained Diamonds. An insurance detective is assigned to solve a series of jewel thefts and, as he does, he helps a beautiful girl in distress—the chief suspect.
York, Death to My Killer. An invalid RAF hero and racing car driver is attacked by an unknown assailant whereupon he builds a plan to ensnare his would-be murderer from his wheelchair.

Non-Fiction
Bowen, Miracle at Philadelphia. The events and thoughts behind the U.S. Constitutional Convention of 1787, and the characteristics of its leading proponents are reviewed.
Buckley, Unmaking of a Mayor. The heated events that pursued, overtook and consumed the New York City mayoralty campaign of 1965 are chronicled, with insight and objectiveness, by one of the unsuccessful candidates.
Cox, Selected Prose of Robert Frost. Fifteen pieces by Robert Frost, that appeared between 1924 and 1959, selected by those who knew and loved him.
Huston, Pathway to Judgment. An objective story of Chief Justice Earl Warren's rise from lowly beginnings, political successes and failures, and judicial judgments.
Idyll, Abyss. An armchair tour of the strange world of the abyss, the deep that makes up nine-tenths of the water of the oceans.

Johnson, "My Hope for America." The President of the United States discussed his philosophy of government and his views on many of the great issues of our time.

Kennedy, A Nation of Immigrants. Former President Kennedy tells us what immigrants have done for America, and what America has done for its immigrants.

Newfield, The Prophetic Minority. An outline of the beliefs, directives and actions of the New Left, with insights into the feelings and rebellions of today's youth.

Nizer, The Jury Returns. A celebrated lawyer uses four of his important cases to give his views on laws related to murder, divorce, intent to commit crime and slander.

Wicker, Kennedy Without Tears. A brilliantly written portrait of John Fitzgerald Kennedy as he really was.

93 Cents on Campaign?

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Republican State Rep. Helmut Juelling, who won re-election to the legislature, tried to keep general election campaign expenses as low as those in his primary campaign — but failed. But Juelling was able to return part of the campaign contribution from the Republican State Central Committee.

The contribution, $1. The refund: 7 cents.

Juelling said he spent 87 cents in the primary campaign for paint to change the number of his district on his old signs from 29 to 28 — the new number under redistricting.

His final campaign expenses soared to 93 cents. With the 7-cent refund he sent along a half cent of profit.

Daguerre's secret was discovered accidentally: If an iodized silver plate is exposed and then treated with mercury vapor, a permanent, positive picture results.

Members of two of the smallest Protestant denominations in the United States are the most generous in filling collection plates. In a survey of 1965 contributions to 44 major churches, the Yearbook of American Churches found The Wesleyan Methodist Church, with 39,000 members, and The Evangelical Free Church of America, 46,000 members, far ahead. The Episcopal Church led denominations of more than a million. Average per capita contribution was $77.75, $5.71 above the previous year. The Yearbook estimated that Americans contributed some $5.5 billion to all religious bodies during 1965.

Youth, Parents See

Films on Smoking

The Ulster County Unit, American Cancer Society, presented two films on smoking to the Youth Group and their parents of the Samsenville Church in Samsenville, Sunday night, Nov. 20. Robert Barringer, advisor to the Youth Group, was in charge of the arrangements.

The film, Is Smoking Worth It? geared for the teen-ager, depicts the attitudes of the young people toward smoking, as well as showing laboratory scenes regarding facts about the causal relationship between cigarette smoking and lung cancer.

The second film, Who Me? is designed to bring to adults the effects of their smoking habits on those of their children. The health hazards as outlined by the Surgeon General's Report also are documented in the film.

Following the film, a question and answer period followed, with Dr. Norman N. Burg, Woodstock, as guest speaker. He said, "It is much harder to stop smoking than to start, and the real culprit is the advertiser on our society that makes smoking glamorous. He urged the young people to resist the ads and emphasized the fact that there are no advantages, only disadvantages in smoking, considering the expense and the dangers involved."

The American Cancer Society has made a first grant of $59,500 to Roswell Park Institute for extensive research seeking new ways to help people stop smoking.

'No Inflation Here'
"No Inflation Here" could be a sign displayed at the ticket office of the Mt. Washington Carriage Road in Pinkham Notch, N. H. The road was 100 years old in 1961, but the toll of $5 for car and driver was started back in 1911, just a little over 50 years ago, and has not changed to this day.

Rochester Girl, Buddhist Nun, Has Left Convent

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A young woman, who became a Buddhist nun and hoped to return to the United States as a missionary, has left the convent, her mother says.

Mrs. Richard Aitken of suburban Gates said Thursday her daughter, Virginia, 23, wrote two weeks ago, telling of her decision to give up the life of a Buddhist nun. She has been in Taipei, Formosa.

Nothing Further Told

Mrs. Aitken said her daughter gave no indication whether she would give up her Buddhist faith as well or planned to return soon to the United States. "Naturally we'd like it," said Mrs. Aitken, "but we don't know." She said her daughter is happy among the Chinese people. Miss Aitken, a former clerk at the Rochester Gas & Electric Co., joined the Buddhist faith in May 1964. She was ordained a nun in January 1965.

Writes Regularly

Mrs. Aitken said her daughter wrote regularly since her conversion from Christianity. Virginia told a newsman shortly after becoming a nun that "I just love it here." At the time she was at the Shenk Kung convent at Hsin Chu, 25 miles south of Taipei.

She said she became interested in Buddhism when she was 13.

"I came here in May last year (1964) as a lay disciple. Last month, two days after I shaved my head, I was accepted as a novice—a novice nun—but I want to become a full-fledged nun and then go back to the United States as a Buddhist missionary," she told the newsman then.

Hunted for New Faith

"I wasn't satisfied with my family religion—we were Presbyterians but then later became Lutherans," she said. "So I started hunting around for a new religion."

"When I was 18 I knew Buddhism was really right for me. What really impressed me was the belief in rebirth—in reincarnation—that any good or bad is your own doing."

Virginia graduated from nearby Gates-Chili High School in 1962.

Happy Over Decision

Mrs. Aitken said she was happy over her daughter's decision to leave the Buddhist convent.

"We were never happy with her decision to become a nun,"

Upstaters Lose Lives in Viet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two Army privates from New York State were killed last week in separate skirmishes with the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam. They were Pvt. Gregory C. Bielicki, 20, of Utica, and Pfc. Weldon H. Young, 21, of Buffalo.

Bielicki, who had been in Viet Nam since early fall, was killed Saturday when his unit encountered the enemy near the Cambodian border. The soldier was graduated from Utica Free Academy and attended Utica College. He joined the Army last March. Bielicki leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Bielicki, a brother and a sister.

The Defense Department did not report in which area of Viet Nam Young was killed. He had been in the war since August. Young attended McKinley High School in Buffalo and entered the service in February 1965.

He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Young, and two sisters.

Surface Ships

World War II submarines were, in effect, surface ships capable of intermittent submersion. They could attain nine knots while submerged and go about 20 miles at this speed. The subs could go no farther or faster underwater because they were driven by storage batteries that had to be recharged on the surface.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

I received an interesting letter from Mrs. Katharine Wolven of New Paltz. She writes in part that her husband is a native of this area, and through him she has become interested in this column. Her letter goes on to say, "To me, the destruction of old places, hurts. When I was a young girl in Concord, Mass., I played in the Alcott house, (Louisa May Alcott, 1832-1888, famous to this day for her writings, and especially Little Women). We played there before it was taken over, some 40 years ago, by the Woman's Club. It has been a paying proposition since then. Also the 'Old Manse' and the Ralph Waldo Emerson houses are tourist attractions now. (Ralph Waldo Emerson 1803-1882. It is said, The Old Manse, Emerson's home at Concord, Mass., where also Hawthorne lived 1843-1846)."

Mrs. Wolven writes further that, "This small town has grown and prospered through the years, and none of the buildings which stood in 1776 have been destroyed," as far as she knows.

Mrs. Wolven further goes on to say: "Another thing, it irritates me when I hear the people of New York State ridicule people from Maine and New Hampshire, calling them small towners or using other words. These folks in the towns of Parsonsfield and Portland, Maine formed a Historical Society, and raised funds, by supports, antique exhibitions, and saved the covered bridge which connects the two towns over the Ossipee River. The old North Bridge in Concord has been replaced from time to time, and is now of concrete, in the form of the original. It wasn't torn down and forgotten," she said.

Mrs. Wolven further writes that "In Providence, R. I. a historical society was formed about three years ago, to save and preserve their old houses, in spite of the new thruway. In Albuquerque, N. M. (founded in 1706) the old town is preserved as a tourist attraction. In spite of tearing down a large section of Boston, they have still preserved the old North Church, Old State House, and the old Market area. Aren't there any women with gumption in Kingston? Where is the Grange? As a Grange Past Master, I know one must have 'go-ahead'."

Mrs. Wolven explains from the beginning that she is not from this section, but from an equally historical American location, and it hurts her no end, as it does many readers, to see one landmark, one old stone house, one building after another of historic importance and of architectural interest go down, for no reason at all. I do not know why the ladies of Kingston and Ulster County are so quiet. I have approached various groups, who are in historical societies, and most of them shrug their shoulders and say, "What can we do?" I try, as a last resort to save a cornerstone or marker. Anyway, when James Beleafs, of Crown Street, who lives in that lovely old stone house, bought Port Ewen School No. 13, and I mentioned that it would be nice, if the School No. 13 large bell could be saved and placed in the Port Ewen School. Mr. and Mrs. James Beleafs, arranged it, although they had a customer for it, and through principal Robert R. Graves, Jr., in Port Ewen, it was handsomely mounted, by Mr. Beleafs, marked with a plaque, and given a place of honor in the lobby of the school. The old Krippelbush school is now a school museum, through the efforts of the women of that community. For historical and tourist trade our landmarks should be saved, before it is too late.

Deceptive Play Wins for South

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The code word ARCH for Analyze the lead; Review the bidding; Count your winners and losers and How can I make (defeat) the contract.

East and South both analyzed the deuce of clubs lead as fourth best. South has to bring home the diamond suit to make his contract because he can only count eight winners in the other suits. He also sees that he isn't going to have enough time if his opponents cash three clubs and two diamonds first.

His only hope is to get them to abandon the club suit. East produces the ace of clubs and South makes the brilliant, deceptive play of the king. If he just drops the ten East will know that South holds but one other club and will continue the suit. When South drops the king East is likely to decide that South's other club is the queen and that South has two club stoppers.

Let's see how East thinks after South does drop the king. He analyzed a fourth best lead.

His review of the bidding shows that West can only hold two or three high card points and that they almost surely will be in spades. He counts enough potential tricks to defeat the contract with a spade shift and leads a spade.

South puts on the king and leads a diamond. In spite of the fact that West played the three of spades on the first spade lead East is likely to try another spade and South makes his contract.

East could still have beaten the contract with a shift back to clubs but the chances are that once he started with spades he would keep going.

Holt Is Favored In Aussie Vote, Troops Big Issue

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The commitment of 4,500 fighting men in Viet Nam is the big issue in Saturday's Australian national elections. Prime Minister Harold Holt's government, which sent the troops to war, is heavily favored to survive.

"Foreign policy is the very core of this election and that's how it has been, if foreign policy is taken to mean the wisdom of being involved in Viet Nam," Holt declared early in the campaign.

Despite a rash of anti-Viet Nam demonstrations, political circles say that feeling does not appear strong enough to give victory to the Labor party of Arthur A. Calwell.

Labor has 52 of the 124 seats in the retiring Parliament and needs a tie vote to swing to win a majority and unseat Holt. The ruling Liberal-County party coalition has 71 seats. There is one independent.

Holt is a Liberal. In campaign speeches, Calwell said: "We will act in consultation with the American authorities immediately if we become the government, to withdraw all conscripts in Viet Nam."

"The remainder of our troops will be brought home at the earliest practicable moment after consultation with our allies and so as not to endanger the lives of any Australian or allied troops."

Troopers 'Bag' Several Hunters For Violations

Ellenville State Police went hunting Thanksgiving Day—for alleged violators of the State Conservation Laws, and they cited several hunters, according to Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes.

Three New York City men were charged by Troopers C. R. Larsen and D. H. Dymond with having a loaded rifle in their car. They are scheduled to appear Thursday, Dec. 1 before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel, Town of Wawarsing.

Sergeant Rhodes identified the men as Edmund Grant, John Stanley Dean and Jim Bryant. Edgar Allen, 26, of Ellenville, charged with a violation, paid $60 and costs through civil compromise, Sgt. Rhodes said. The violation was not available.

Kenneth John Orsini, 28, of Levittown paid $27.50 in civil compromise. He was charged with having a loaded gun in his car. Rocco Muro, 27, of Valley Stream, paid $102.50 before Justice of the Peace Abram Smith, Town of Rochester. He was cited for illegal possession of a but- ton buck deer, troopers reported.

Santa's Children Fooled

OLEAN, N. Y. (AP)—George Pancio's three children told their little playmates here today about the big Macy's Thanksgiving Day parade they saw in New York City Thursday that included Santa Claus. Little did they know, however, that the jolly Christmas saint they saw walking down Broadway was their father, an elementary school principal here.

Pancio says he plans to keep the secret, too, because to tell them would ruin the spirit of his happy role.

Problems of 1966 Will Still Be There for Johnson in '67

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—This has not been one of President Johnson's best years. His popularity went down, his troubles up, and they will still be staring at him in 1967.

His performance after his two recent operations, ignoring doctors' orders to take it easy, could be interpreted as an effort to convince anyone who had any doubts that he is as full of vitality as ever.

Public Approval Questioned He will need it all these next years, which will be quite different from the beginning of 1965 when, still fresh from his tremendous 1964 victory over Sen. Barry Goldwater, he was dressed from head to toe in public approval.

But was he really saturated then in public approval? An obvious question surfaces as time passes and his popularity dwindles: How much of his huge 1964 vote was public approval and how much simply rejection of Goldwater who, as the election showed, was out of step with his times?

Within two years Johnson's popularity dived so much that public opinion polls show a preference for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, New York Democrat, and Michigan's Republican Gov. George Romney.

But on the wings of the election two years ago, and with great Democratic majorities in Congress, Johnson was able to pass a legislative miracle in 1965 in getting so much of his "Great Society" programs through.

He may never achieve such success again. At the end of 1965 no prophet was needed to foresee that Johnson couldn't keep up the pace in 1966. The country and the government would need time to digest all that was done in 1965.

Senate, U.S. Different

On top of this, as months become years, Johnson is being criticized as a poor national administrator of some of the very programs he fought for.

True, he was a political genius in handling the Senate when he was there.

But running the Senate and running the vast, rumbling government is like the difference

Olean Is Cited, Under Minimum For Plane Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—Olean, N.Y., does not supply enough passengers to meet the minimum required for the airplane service it receives, says the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The Western New York city is one of 50 cited by the board for failing to meet what it terms minimum traffic - generating standards.

In a letter to the mayors of each city under the passenger minimum, CAB secretary Harold R. Sanderson said the passenger supply in each case would be checked continuously.

He added that if a city fails to make adequate use of its subsidized service, the airline is free to ask for a suspension of service.

In addition, Sanderson wrote, service in some cases represents a considerable expense for both the airlines and the government. Unless the flights are utilized, he said, their cost is unwarranted.

Mohawk Airlines, a regional carrier, serves Olean.

The board released the names of the 50 cities Wednesday.

Budget Talks Due

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson meets today with budget director Charles L. Schultze and Robert C. Weaver, secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Affairs, to discuss the federal budget.

Johnson spent a quiet Thanksgiving with his family at the LBJ Ranch.

Deputy press secretary Robert H. Fleming reported that Johnson told him by phone that "he is feeling well." The President had throat and abdominal operations Nov. 16.

FORMER ambassador to Japan Edwin O. Reischauer said in Waltham, Mass., Tuesday that the United States has made it so difficult for the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese to continue the war that they may gradually allow it to simmer down. Today's Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — It is a fact of life — and an irony too — that when an economic boom nears its peak more people are distressed than was the case in poorer times.

High living often results in economic indigestion.

Many Still Carping

Today's economy is on nearly the highest plane in the nation's history. But economists, politicians, brokers, Cabinet officers, businessmen and students are carping as never before.

The din became overpowering recently when housewives joined the uproar.

The complaints are endless. Prices are high, goods are shoddy, taxes burdensome, stocks declining, wages out of line, good manners and service at a new low. And nobody can agree on how to resolve the situation.

The distress is enough to make some adults wish aloud for the good old days when, they claim, they were a little bit poorer but a good deal happier.

But youth, too, complains. Having had little previous experience with which to compare their present situation, young people do not always subscribe to an argument that they "never had it so good."

Nearest to Utopia

Nevertheless, in a material way, a good argument can be made for saying this is the nearest we have ever been to a promised land.

One answer to this curious paradox is economic motion. When the economy is moving ahead, as it has for nearly six years, the benefits of increased production are spread around.

Wages and profits rise and prices remain steady.

When the economy nears a limit, as it now may have, relations tend to become strained. Growth slows, like a tired car on a long hill. The same effort as before doesn't produce the same result as before.

The car or the economy might be higher on the hill. But the going is more strenuous. The clashes instead of meshes. Out wage-price-profit relationship clashes instead of meshes. Out of line, the friction produces inflation. Efficiency is the victim.

There Are Arguments

As long as production rose both producer and consumer shared the results. When it slowed they began to scrap for the smaller dollar.

Arguments break out. Economists talk of slowing the economy, of putting on the brakes through less spending or more taxes. But the problem is political as well as economic. Republicans right now, for example, are afraid President Johnson might give them a tax increase and the blame, too.

Pay Lawrence Respects

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Loved ones, friends and associates pay final respects today to David L. Lawrence, longtime national Democratic power and former governor of Pennsylvania.

Lawrence will be buried in Calvary Cemetery after Roman Catholic services at a funeral home and St. Mary of Mercy church.

Lawrence, 77, died Monday following a heart seizure Nov. 4.

Businessmen complain, as they do now, that profits are eroding as the economic strains make their operations less efficient. And workers find their pay check isn't going as far as it used to go.

The bills that come in the mail are examined more critically. And more errors are discovered in them, for department stores or brokers or banks might be feeling the strain of a heavy work load with inexperienced help. The result: more arguments.

It has been nearly axiomatic in the American economy, however, that when a boom turns down recovery can't be far behind.

Middletown Bus Trip Scheduled Next Wednesday

The bus which the Ulster County Association for Mental Health runs once a month to Middletown State Hospital, will operate this month on Wednesday, Nov. 30. This special service is provided for the benefit of persons wishing to visit patients at the hospital.

Seeing relatives and friends is a very important factor in the process of recovery for a patient suffering a mental breakdown.

The Mental Health Association started sponsoring the bus trip two years ago, in answer to a very significant need, as there is no reasonable public transportation for the Kingston area to Middletown. The association is a voluntary organization and a member of the Community Chest. Departure times for the bus are as follows:

Kingston, Park Diner 11:45 a. m.; Rosendale, The Elms 12 noon; New Paltz, Grand Union,

Main and North Chestnut Streets, 12:10 p. m.

If requested in advance, the bus will also stop in Wallkill, Waliden, or Montgomery.

The bus leaves the hospital at 4 p. m. and returns to Kingston by 5:30 p. m., stopping as requested on the return journey.

For further information the Ulster County Association for Mental Health in Kingston may be contacted.

World Art Lovers Rallying To Help Florence, Italy

FLORENCE Italy (AP) — In a spontaneous outpouring of affection for this flood-ravaged city of Renaissance treasure art lovers around the world have rallied to help Florence heal its wounds.

The cause has linked bankers and beatniks, connoisseurs and common laborers, the famous and the unknown of at least 35 lands.

This Flood Friendly

Three weeks after flood waters ruined some of Western culture's most precious relics, the cause has linked bankers and beatniks, connoisseurs and common laborers, the famous and the unknown of at least 35 lands.

The cause has linked bankers and beatniks, connoisseurs and common laborers, the famous and the unknown of at least 35 lands.

Jackie Heads Group
Dozens of aid committees have been hastily organized. Mrs. John F. Kennedy is honorary president of the New York-based Committee to Rescue Italian Art which hopes to obtain $2.5 million for emergency "first aid" restoration.

The State Department in Washington said that following the Nov. 4 floods across northern and central Italy, U.S. forces in Italy flew 800 hours of helicopter rescue operations.

They also airlifted a German water filtration plant and 24 Dutch water-tank trucks and distillers.

The department said Americans delivered 8,600 C rations.

1,500 cans of evaporated milk, 2-600 blankets, quantities of diesel fuel, 150,000 vitamin C tablets and other medicines and supplies.

Estimates in Millions

The State Department said the over-all amount of financial assistance from American government and private sources already has been put by some estimates at "millions of dollars."

To help blot moisture from delicate canvases the Japanese government has promised 4000 sheets of absorbent rice paper. The Soviet Union and Canada have offered expert help.

Art experts have flown in from Europe, the United States and Israel. Nineteen specialists led by Lawrence J. Majewski, associate professor at New York University's Institute of Fine Arts flew to Italy to inspect recovery work.

Salvage and restoration work in Florence is still in the emergency first stage. Art students and other volunteers spend long hours carefully brushing away layers of mud from fragile canvases and frescoes.

Work May Last Years
Carpenters are building long shelves at the Pitti Palace where a huge hall is being equipped as a drying room for all the soaked canvases. Humidity and temperature will be controlled and air will be kept circulating among the racks of paintings to prevent cracking.

Prof. Bruno Molaboli, government director of antiquities and fine arts says the work will last months or even years before actual restoring can begin.

Paintings on wood are being kept damp to prevent paint from cracking as panels dry. But the greatest damage masterpiece of all Cimabue's "Crucifixion" can never be restored.

Nearly 80 per cent of the painting was washed away in water that rose more than 14 feet.

Specialists are using noncorrosive detergents to wipe the stains from statues and marbles. Many books are in deep freezers to prevent mold.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A barrage of bullets, fired into a crowded Watts night spot by an unidentified gunman, killed a 24-year-old man and wounded another late Thursday night, police said.

Defector Has New Thoughts of Red China Now

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Clarence Adams, the former Army corporal who defected to Communist China, said today he wants the chance to tell the world how much better the democratic system is than communism.

"I conducted a sort of personal referendum between Communism and democracy by seeing both first-hand and making up my mind the hard way," the 37-year-old Memphis Negro said. He defected after the Korean war and spent 13 years in mainland China before returning home last summer.

Adams said he wants the United States government to call on him to help in the propaganda war against Communism. He is now employed by an insurance company.

Adams, his Chinese wife and their two children are enjoying the high standard of living they've found here since his return, he said, adding:

"I like all this but there's something I like better. In China I learned you don't want your mind dominated or subjugated to somebody or some system. To be able to talk freely (here in the United States) is wonderful."

The slender repatriate expressed satisfaction at the progress of civil rights in the South. "As a boy, I thought of Chicago as a mecca for Negroes. Memphis is working out its problems better than Chicago."

Adams and his family live with his mother in a middle-class Negro neighborhood.

Reports $170,000 Jewelry Theft From N.Y. Hotel

NEW YORK (AP) — An Argentine woman reported to police today the theft of jewelry valued at $170,000 from a suite in the Hotel Pierre at Fifth Avenue and 61st St.

Mrs. Flora Comandanos told police that she discovered the theft of 23 pieces of jewelry at 11 a.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Comandanos said the gems were taken from a black bag which she kept in a valise in the sitting room of her suite. Detectives said they could find no sign of a forced entry into the suite.

Mrs. Comandanos is visiting here with her husband, John.

Private School Burned Out, Move Classes to Church

PITTSFORD, N.Y. (AP)—Classes for elementary grade pupils will move Tuesday to a nearby Baptist church in the wake of a fire that roared through the main classroom building of a private school for boys.

The fire, of undetermined cause, heavily damaged the one-story, frame structure early Thursday on the campus of The Allendale School in this suburb of Rochester.

40 Years Old

The U-shaped building, constructed 40 years ago, housed nine classrooms, a laboratory, a study room and administrative offices. An attached brick lunchroom and gymnasium were saved from the fast-spreading flames by firemen.

No one was reported injured. Buell Critchlow, a former headmaster, said it would cost at least $500,000 to replace the burned structure.

The school's 180 pupils, all of them day students, will return Tuesday from a Thanksgiving holiday recess.

Judge Weiss Dies, Stricken at Wheel

BATAVIA, N.Y. (AP) — Judge Philip J. Weiss of Genesee County Court died today at St. Jerome's Hospital here shortly after suffering an apparent heart attack. He was 57.

Weiss was stricken while driving his automobile in the village of Elba, five miles north of Batavia. He pulled his car to the side of the road before summoning help.

Weiss was re-elected earlier this month to his fourth term. In 1948 he was the first Democrat elected a Genesee County judge in 62 years.

Weiss also served as the county's surrogate and family court judge.

He was president of the State Association of Family Court Judges and a former president of the State Association of County Court Judges.

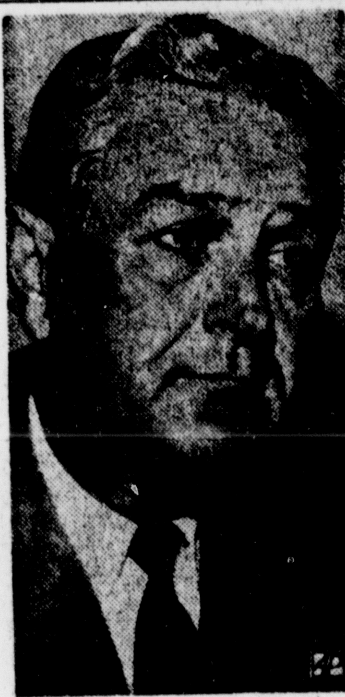

Ramallah . . .

of Hebron, Ramallah and Jerusalem have petitioned the government to allow troops of the Palestine Liberation Organization to defend Jordan's border with Israel. The government opposes the organization, saying it is Communist influenced. They are also demanding arms to defend themselves.

Most Young Refugees

The demonstrators, most of them young refugees from the camps surrounding Ramallah, marched through the street briefly this morning chanting: "We want arms," "Nasser, Nasser."

The demonstration was broken up when troops in military vehicles with mounted machine guns drove back into town, warning residents to get indoors.

REFUSES TO COMMENT

Gov. Connally is shown in Austin, Texas, as he refused to comment on Life Magazine's call for a new investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy. Connally, whom Life quoted as supporting the theory that he was wounded by a separate bullet, one that did not pass through Kennedy, also refused to comment on a report he still has fragments of that bullet in his leg. All Evidence Points to Oswald FBI Head Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today all available evidence indicates that Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

"Not one shred of evidence has been developed to link any other person in a conspiracy with Oswald to assassinate President Kennedy," Hoover said in a statement.

A number of books, articles and statements recently have raised questions about the validity of the findings of the Warren Commission, which named Oswald as the assassin and said he acted alone. The FBI turned over all its own findings to the commission.

Special Thanks In Buffalo Home; Son Getting Well

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — "We gave extra thanks today," Mrs. Charles H. Pohrte said after a Thanksgiving Day made extra joyous by news of her young son's continued recovery from rare heart surgery.

"All of the toasts at the family dinner were for John," Mrs. Charles H. Pohrte said, referring to the 2-year-old boy. He spent the holiday in his room at Children's Hospital in Buffalo.

Reversed Blood Vessels

On Nov. 12, surgeons corrected a heart defect with which John was born, the reversal of the two major blood vessels leading to and from the heart, the aorta and the pulmonary artery.

The surgical technique, developed at the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto, Canada, had been performed successfully only once before in this country.

In it, physicians restored the aorta to its normal task of carrying oxygen-rich blood from the left side of the heart to the rest of the body and the pulmonary artery to its job of channeling blood from the heart's right side to the lungs.

Faced Early Death

Had the risky operation not been performed, doctors said, John would have faced possible early death from lack of oxygen.

Mrs. Pohrte said she had been told the lad could return home to the town of Tonawanda in time to celebrate Christmas with his parents and seven brothers and sisters.

The family lives at 615 Cornwall Ave.

Brown Discusses Viet, Arms in Kosygin Chat

MOSCOW (AP) — British Foreign Secretary George Brown discussed Viet Nam, control of nuclear weapons and other world problems in a 10-minute meeting today with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

It was understood that both sides considered the detailed talks useful. Official sources refused to give any information on the Kremlin meeting.

Brown earlier talked over Viet Nam, nuclear weapons and other topics with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Some sources described Brown's meeting with Kosygin as "full, frank and friendly."

After the meeting, Brown drove across the Moscow River to the British Embassy, then went to Moscow's International Airport in hopes the weather would permit him to fly to London.

Impatience, May Recognize China

OTTAWA, Canada (AP) — Prime Minister Lester Pearson has made it clear that Canada is impatient about continued isolation of Communist China and may recognize the Peking regime if it is not seated in the United Nations.

In a foreign policy debate in the House of Commons Thursday, Pearson said that if the seating of mainland China at the U.N. "is impossible at present and we make no progress on this score, then we have to consider the other form of recognition by approaching the government concerned to see whether, bilaterally, recognition can be brought about."

The question was, he said, "to see that a suitable basis can be found in that world assembly so that a government which represents 700 million people in this world can become a member of that organization."

Predicts Common Market for Asia Soon

TOKYO (AP) — Eugene Black, a special adviser to President Johnson, said today the United States sets no limits on the quantity of help it will give for Asian economic and social development.

He ruled out, however, the idea of a Marshall Plan for Asia, saying it would not make sense in the area's present circumstances.

Black predicted that it will be only a matter of time before moves are made to form an Asian common market.

Speaking to the Foreign Correspondents Club of Japan, the former chairman of the World Bank strongly disclaimed any American desire to play a dominant role in Asian economic cooperation.

Constables Break Up Disturbance Near Tillson Hall

Rosendale Town Constables late Wednesday night broke up a crowd of youths, some of whom were armed with baseball bats, pipes and bottles and created a disturbance outside the Tillson American Legion Hall.

Chief Constable Harold Bowers confirmed reports of the disturbance and said several calls were received by authorities from people who appeared afraid to get out of their cars or drive home because of possible harm.

The chief said Constables Edward Schmidt and Kenneth Gordon, who were on assignment at the dance, dispersed the crowd made up of young men and women from the Tillson area. "A group of young people from Rifton attended the dance and behaved," Bowers said, "but the Tillson group caused the disturbance as they appeared with bats, pipes and bottles."

No arrests were made, Bowers said.

Troopers Cite 13 More Hunters, Total Is Now 34

Thirteen hunters cited Wednesday and Thanksgiving Day by State Police on charges of violating the State Conservation Law, make a total of 34 charged by Kingston State Police since the deer season opened on Monday.

William Henry Miller, 18, and James Wayne Van Allen, 21, both of Kingston, were accused of shooting a deer before the legal hour of 7 a. m. They appeared before Justice of the Peace Harry Bailey, Town of Denning, and each paid $50, troopers said.

Howard Rudolph, 23, and his brother, Robert, 18, both of Northport, were charged with having a loaded gun in their car. They appeared before Justice of the Peace Edward F. France, Town of Shandaken, and each paid $25.

Charged with failing to fill in Part 2 of the deer papers were: Bryan Schnorrbusch, 21, Avenell, N. J.; Edward Wojciechowski, 49, South Plainfield, N. J.; George Albanese, 48, of Ozone Park; John Carvelli, 27, Brooklyn; Robert Deodone, 40, New Hyde Park and Benjamin Irons, 32, New York City. They each paid $10 before Judge France.

William Bledsoe, 42, Pleasantville, who was charged with transporting a deer inside his car, and having no transportation tag, was fined by Judge France $10 on each charge, troopers said. Wilfred Jones, 48, Spring Valley, was charged with having a loaded gun in his car. He paid $25. Thomas Stevenson, 40, of Irvington, charged with the same offense paid $25.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Virginia once stretched from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean and even included the Bermuda Islands, says The World Almanac. These sea-to-sea boundaries were fixed by three royal charters granted by the King of England in 1606, 1609, and 1611-12. Virginia thus claimed an area of more than one million square miles. This vast territory was reduced by the charters of Maryland in 1632 and Pennsylvania in 1681.

Two Men Injured In Holiday Crash

Two men were injured at 2 p. m. Thanksgiving Day when their cars collided on Old Route 213 near the Kingston City line at Eddyville.

Trooper Norman Kilfoyle of the Kingston substation said the cars were driven by Paul J. Coles, 61, of 120 Wilbur Avenue, and Irving DuBois, 52, of Tillson. Both men were taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctors Ambulance and Oxygen Service.

Coles was treated for lacerations of the right side of his head, and DuBois for lacerations of the forehead. Trooper R. J. Dempsey investigated and reported DuBois was driving east and Coles was making a turn from a driveway to go east when the mishap occurred.

Saugerties Driver Cited After Mishap

Joseph Nichols, 19, of 26 Jane Street, Saugerties, was cited by State Trooper Thomas Searles early Thursday morning on a charge of driving a car at a speed not reasonable and prudent.

Trooper Norman Kilfoyle said Nichols was driving east on Glasco Turnpike when his car went off the south side of the pavement, bounced off a tree and hit a second tree.

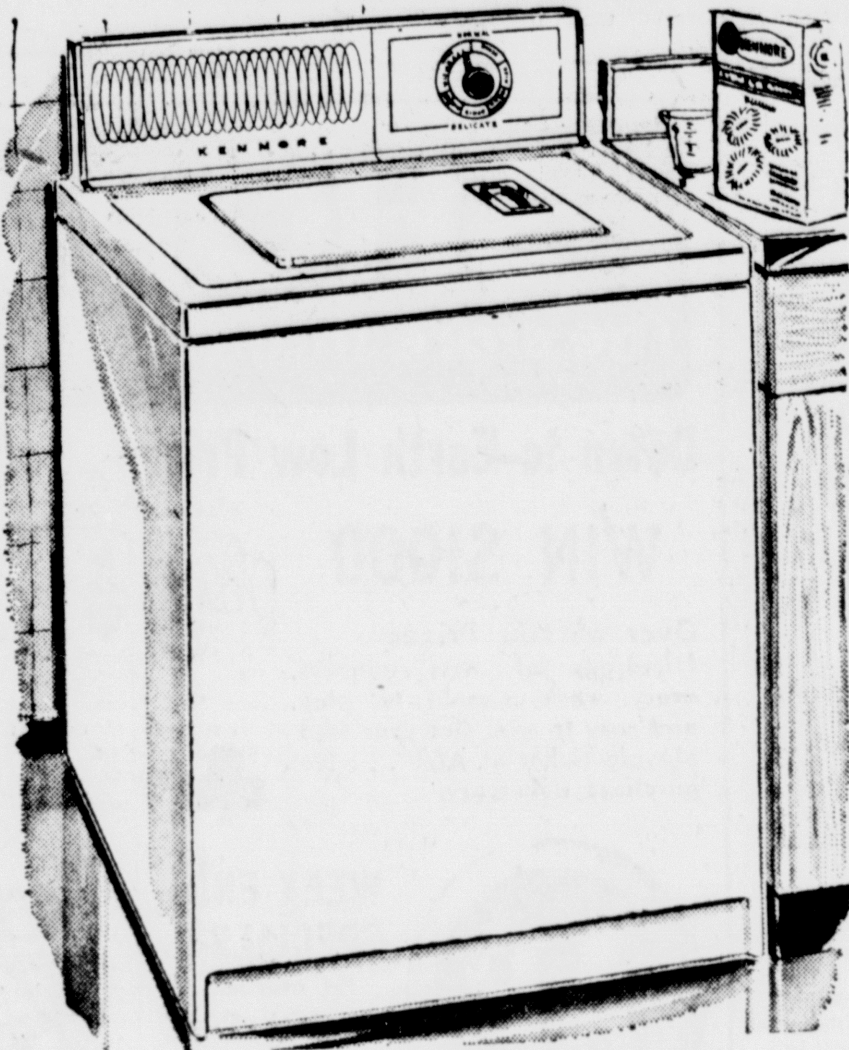

Nicholas was treated at Benedictine Hospital for lacerations of the right leg and eye lid. The summons is returnable at a later date before Justice of the Peace Calvin Cody, Town of Saugerties.

Smokey the Bear Joins TV Classics

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Smokey the Bear, who for two decades has been warning us sternly to douse our camp fires and never toss cigarette butts out of a car, learned about first fires the hard way.

In NBC's "Ballad of Smokey the Bear" Thursday night, we heard the whole story of his traumatic cubhood — an impressionable period when he was in serious need of psychiatric help.

With the help of cute animated figures, we saw how the little bear was trapped in a tree top when fire swept his forest. His mother, hunting her youngest, was lost. The orphaned cub, burned and scared, turned into a shiv, frightened loner — and you know what that means.

Told in Child's Terms

This rather adult story was told in a child's terms, and was loaded with lessons. But it was made palatable by comedy and pleasant little songs.

It will undoubtedly become one of the increased number of programs to be broadcast annually as a special during the holiday season.

These special programs, which television likes to call classics, are handy and economical properties. If one cost, for instance, $50,000 to make in the first place, three showings would reduce that sum to around $16,500 for each broadcast.

The "Wizard of Oz," which CBS shows each year, is a happy example of a so-called classic, and so are NBC's "Peter Pan," "Amahl and the Night Visitors," "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer" and CBS' increasing backlog of "Charlie Brown" specials.

They are particularly valuable when aimed at the very young — that audience changes about every two or three years.

Garry Moore Going

CBS formally announced the long anticipated demise of "The Garry Moore Show" Thursday. The last program will be seen on Jan. 8. On Feb. 5, it will be replaced by a comedy-variety show starring the Smothers Brothers.

The Moore show, with a rating near the bottom of the Nielsen list, was a victim of its time spot — opposition the popular "Bonanza" — and of its format, which never worked well.

Last week in an effort to improve things, the show was a short version of an old Broadway musical comedy, but overnight ratings indicated that the "chance didn't increase the audience size much.

12th to Go

CBS will fill the three weeks between death and birth with special programs. The Moore show is the 12th program to be canceled in mid-season by the three networks. He is the third star to have his new series fail. Others are Milton Berle and Jean Arthur.

Beatles Reunited

LONDON (AP) — The Beatles ended three months of separation Thursday night and got together to make a new record.

Since returning from an American tour at the end of August, the four singers have been following independent lines of work and play. Reports they were breaking have been denied.

Dear Abby . . .

Give Plain Jane a Chance

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: With the school social season just commencing, you would be doing a real service to remind girls not to pass up a boy just because he's short. Thru high school and college a truly wonderful fellow tried many times to date me. He was bright, well-liked, kind, and had a great sense of humor, but he had one "fault." He was shorter than I. So I never went out with him. Well, I married one of the big, brawny athletic stars. He's conceited, lazy, and dumb. We live from hand to mouth.

The short fellow is now a very successful professional man, admired and respected by all. He married a beautiful girl who positively adores him. She's half-a-head taller than he is, but nobody seems to notice. She lives in luxury and has status and security. Every time I see her I think, "There but for my asinine childishness go I." Print this. Many girls can learn from it.

MISSED THE BOAT

DEAR MISSED: And speaking of boats that have been missed, let's look at the guys who've left themselves on the dock.

I refer to fellows who scorned a girl because she was a little too short, or tall, or skinny, or plump. She may have been intelligent, kind, lots of fun and eager to please, but because she had less-than-lovely limbs, or an unfortunate complexion, she was bypassed.

These men married the beautiful-but-dumb girls. And when the beauty faded there was nothing left.

So now that the school social season is commencing, look around. Give the plain girls a chance. You may do yourselves a favor that will last about 50 years.

DEAR ABBY: My husband refuses to tie his shoe laces. He steps into his shoes and lets the laces drag. We have a son in the 1st grade who lets his laces drag on purpose. When I tell him to tie them he says, "Daddy don't."

Now I don't know what to say or do. At school the children are graded on neatness, and junior always gets a black mark because his shoe laces are never tied. I've tried to tell my husband he is setting a bad example for our son, but it doesn't help.

So how do you train a child to tie his laces when his father doesn't? And when he gives me this "Daddy don't" talk, what do I say?

BEAT MOM

DEAR BEAT: When the boy says, "Daddy don't," say, "I know—but daddy SHOULD. And Daddy is too big a fellow for me to spank. But YOU'RE not!"

DEAR ABBY: My husband does the kind of work that takes him into homes everyday. He's very friendly and a good talker. He is always coming home with the name of some medicine written down by the lady he's worked for that day.

I don't mind too much when he brought home the names of some remedies for gall stones, indigestion, and ulcers. But yesterday he brought me the name of something a woman recommended for—of all things—my constipation!

Abby, I don't like for my husband to discuss my ailments with other women. Please print this. Maybe he will see it and realize how disgusting it is. My constipation, indeed! Don't print my name I am ashamed enough.

Moving of Temple From Nassar Lake Called Successful

CAIRO (AP) — As dawn spread over the desert, rays of the sun slid across the ceiling of a great temple, slipped through its long corridors into an inner sanctuary, then lit the crown of the Pharaoh King Ramesses.

"It struck the crown! It did!" someone shouted from inside the temple. Outside, a tense group of archeologists, engineers and laborers exploded with elated cheers.

Same After 3,200 Years

Thus they learned one morning last month that years of planning and work and investment of millions of dollars, had achieved an important success. They had dismantled, moved and reassembled the colossal twin temple of Abu Simbel so exactly that the sun's rays penetrated the inner sanctum just as they did when the temples were built 3,200 years ago.

The priceless monuments had been threatened by the waters of an immense lake slowly rising behind the United Arab Republic's Aswan Dam. Five European nations formed a consortium two years ago to salvage the temples, and the United States and the United Arab Republic agreed to pay the major part of the estimated $36 million cost.

Use Same Angles

It was one of the century's most daring projects—to cut the temples apart and reconstruct the huge structures on a promontory overlooking Lake Nassar along the same astronomical angles used by the ancient Egyptians.

Egyptologists say the temples were designed and their site selected by means of precise calculations by engineers of the Pharaohs so that the sun would illuminate the inner sanctuary twice a year — in late February and early October.

Mayone Conducts Drug Addiction Program at UCCC

More than 250 freshmen at Ulster County Community College last week attended a program on "Narcotics Addiction" presented by the Ulster County Sheriff's Office.

In charge of conducting the program was County Investigator Thomas F. Mayone, who has been employed by the sheriff's office for 16 years and has had extensive experience handling narcotics cases.

The program, including a film and question-and-answer period, was presented to freshman orientation classes at the college.

"The purpose of the program," said Richard E. Carlson, assistant dean of students, "was to acquaint the students with the drug addiction problem and to portray the degradation suffered by people addicted to narcotics."

Carlson lauded the program for being realistic and frank and said the freshmen were highly interested in it. "It was a vivid portrayal of the evil of narcotics and the damage drug addiction can cause," he said.

Investigator Mayone showed a film then gave a talk in which he described various narcotics, including LSD. Then he answered questions posed by the students.

The investigator emphasized that narcotics addiction is primarily a disease of the young, with 85 per cent of its victims being under 40 years of age and 49 per cent under the age of 30.

"We're indebted to the Sheriff's Office for its fine cooperation in sending a highly qualified man like Investigator Mayone to present this program at UCCC," said Carlson. "It was a fine informative program that was well received by the students."

An old man and his teen-aged niece stood watching one of the modern dances. Sally—I bet you never saw any dancing like that back in your younger days? Uncle Tom—Once—but the place was raided. There is no more pliable substance on earth than truth. Just how well it holds its shape depends on how it is handled. Mrs. Smith—Can you alter this dress to fit me? Salesman—Certainly not. That isn't done any more. You will have to be altered to fit the dress. A pat on the back develops character—if administered young enough, often enough, and low enough. Mrs. Cobb (asked of her physician)—Do you think raw oysters are healthy? Doctor Cash—Yes, I never knew one to complain. Judge Jones—You've been convicted 14 times of this offense—aren't you ashamed to own to that? Mr. James—No, your honor. I don't think one ought to be ashamed of his convictions. The first step toward correcting a fault is to admit it exists. A woman will marry a man because she loves his curly hair and then try to pull them out because he's too tired to take her dancing.

WHY WE SAY--

UNDER THE WEATHER

SEASICK: When we don't feel well, we might use this expression, when the "new sailor" who felt a little seasick sought shelter from the wind by crouching for protection beside the bulwarks on the "weather" or windy side of the ship.

BARBS

Columbus might not have been such a great discoverer if he had been looking for a parking place. Everyone loves a lover, especially florists, candy makers, restaurateurs and jewelers. If we put the same energy and zest into our jobs that we put into our hobbies we'd all be millionaires. If he thinks his sweetiepie is a little dear, after marriage he'll find she's darned expensive. The trouble with going South for the winter is that too often you find it there. Most regular television shows are better opportunities than the sleeping pills on their commercials.

OCS Board Passes Tax Relief; Reappoints Sullivan; Notes Needs of Handicapped Pupils

Ontario Central School Board held its regular monthly meeting at Woodstock School this week and, in this "on-the-road" session, acted upon or discussed several major matters.

Of far-reaching importance was the fact that the Board approved tax relief for senior residents in the School District. Elderly real property owners of 65-years-of-age or older with an income of $3,000 or less per year will receive a 50 per cent reduction in assessed valuation next year, thus giving them some much-needed relief from high taxes.

In other action, the OCS Board reappointed Dr. George R. Sullivan to another five-year term as Superintendent of Schools of the District.

Trustee Richard Langham, of Woodstock, spoke in support of the recently revived Ulster County School Boards Association; urged the OCS Board to work hand-in-hand with this group in order to keep abreast of and thoroughly informed on legislative matters dealing with education and schools.

Speech Correction

"We also provide a program for speech correction. Last year, for example, 116 children were provided with individual programs for correction of speech defects.

"Five local physicians under the direction of Dr. Charles Quinn of Phoenixia, assure a constant search for physical defects by providing us with a physical appraisal service which is required for each pupil each year. This year 436 children were examined by the family physician, a practice we encourage to provide the most thorough examination possible. We also organize immunization clinics to help in the prevention of handicaps.

"In addition, there is interaction with county state agencies. The Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Clinic is available for speech and hearing evaluation, clinical programs for cerebral palsy patients, psychological testing and counseling, and serve as an out-patient center for physically handicapped and brain injured children.

"The mental health clinic provides psychiatric evaluations and short-term treatment through psychotherapy or counseling. They also provide counseling services to schools.

"Gateways Industries in Kingston provides training for those with mental or physical handicaps to prepare them for gainful employment.

"The Ulster County Chapter of the Association for Retarded Children provides day care for pre-school children including speech therapy, summer camp and advisory counseling for parents.

"Others Help Too
"Many other state and private non-profit agencies exist to help handicapped children. It should be noted that all of the agencies mentioned provide extremely valuable supplemental services to our school district but in most cases each child is plagued by budgetary allocation. The result is good services but not enough of them.

"As our enrollment grows so will the number of handicapped children grow. Our educable class for elementary children will soon need to be subdivided into two classes to care for the increased numbers and to reduce the age spread within the classes.

"Our educable class in the high school will profit from a new room in the high school addition, but here also a second class will probably need to be created to care for the number and a wide spread in age. Individual programs will have to be expanded taking advantage of special programs within the district, work-study programs at BOCES, and occupational training through Gateway Industries and others.

"The major solution to our needs in the area of special education should come through the Board of Cooperative Educational Services. Here we can develop cooperative classes for those who are extremely disturbed emotionally, for trainable children, and for those with severe physical handicaps.

"We ask the School Board and local residents to reflect on the enormous effort now being made by local, county and state agencies to give the handicapped child a break in the world. Much has been done—but much more remains to be done."

Word 'Join' Triggers Conditioned Response
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Maybe the pile of pennies on highway engineer Buddy Wiggins' table proves people are natural-born joiners. Or it may prove that people believe it is better to give than to take.

It started when someone in the drafting room of the state highway office where Wiggins works found a penny on the floor. He put it on the corner of Wiggins' table.

Anxious to Join
Soon, this sign appeared beside the penny: "Join Now."

Other employees began dropping pennies on the table, joining the no-name, nothing organization. The pile of pennies grew rapidly.

Then, one day, the pile was put into a box and a second sign was posted nearby: "Take One."

There were no takers. Nary a penny disappeared.

At last report, people were still joining and not taking and the nothing club's treasury stood at several dollars.

SORROW TWICE TOLD—Mrs. Bernard Kistler holds the flag that draped the casket of her second husband as he was buried in the military cemetery at West Point, N. Y. He had been killed in Viet Nam. Less than two years ago—as Mrs. William T. Reach—she was at West Point for the military burial of her first husband. He, too, was killed in Viet Nam. Both men were Army lieutenants. With Mrs. Kistler is Chris Farlekas, a family friend. (AP Wire-photo)

Blame Shortage, Economy

Price Hikes Also Hit Toys, But Who Will Boycott Santa

By SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Santa may have trouble filling his orders this Christmas.

Some toys are in short supply and some others will cost more.

The toy makers blame what they call drastic shortages of labor, raw materials and parts, and increases in the prices of plastic, vinyl, copper, steel, clothing — even doll wigs.

Orders Up, Production Down

"We have orders for $17.5 million and we'll be lucky to get out $16.5 million," said Robert B.M. Barton, president of Parker Brothers, Inc., Salem, Mass., which makes about 125 different games and kindergarten supplies.

"Labor is terribly tight in Salem and worse at our plant in Des Moines, Iowa," Barton said. "Supplies are tight. It is most difficult to get molds for plastic items; paper and board; little specialty items. They're all tight."

Jerome M. Fryer, president of Toy Manufacturers of the U.S.A., Inc., said shipments were running late.

Says Not Critical
"But it isn't a critical thing," he said. "There will be some things people won't be able to get, but there will be plenty of toys generally."

Fisher-Price Toys, Inc., East Aurora, N.Y., manufacturer of toys for preschool youngsters, estimates its sales are up 20 per cent.

Corgi said it couldn't take any more orders for its Batmobile. "The demand is far beyond what we expected," a spokesman said.

Winnie the Pooh Sold Out

Lionel Toy Corp. is sold out of its Winnie the Pooh phonograph, but expects to be able to deliver most other items in time for Christmas. The problem is in small parts: a 22-cent piece for a train chassis, for instance.

Steff can't keep up with orders for its $9 sprawling pig. Mattel, Inc., Hawthorne, Calif., is sold out of Cheerful Teardrop, the little blonde doll who smiles or cries watery tears, a toy distributor reports.

Enjoying a Boom

Topper Toys of Elizabeth, N.J., has tripled its employees and had been working nights since September to meet demand, turning out 16,000 Baby Magies a day.

Baby Magic is the magnetized blonde who opens her eyes, drinks and cries when you wave the magic wand.

"Consumers are buying later but we'll have no problem meeting orders," said Ronald D. Saypol, executive vice president.

Costs Up, Still Climbing

Shoppers who do find the toys their children want may find they cost more than a year ago. More increases are likely next year.

Fryer predicted they would be up substantially in 1967.

"I'd say 5 per cent or more would be in line generally," he said.

Fryer, president also of Gabrielines, Inc., which makes plastic toys and hobby kits, photographs and electronic toys, said some of the items in his own line wouldn't be changed, and some might go up about 15 per cent.

Train Costs $1.50 More

Lionel has increased its prices slightly. A toy train that cost $40 last year, for instance, now is $41.50.

"Everyone will be up next year," said Barton, the game company president. "With us, it's just a question of how few we put up. We won't put up prices across the board."

Barton said Monopoly, which cost $2 when it was introduced in 1934, now costs $5.

"That's far less than it ought to be," he said. "It ought to sell for $7 or $7.50 just to keep up with the economy."

Son Visits, Finds Dad Dead—Mom Starving

GRAND HAVEN, Mich. (AP) — Max Glavick went to his parents' rural home for a Thanksgiving Day visit and found his father dead. His invalid mother had been without food or water for six days, state police said.

Police said George Glavick, 84, apparently died of a heart attack six days ago while putting license plates on his car. His body was found in the yard.

His wife, Frances, also, 84, was found on a floor. Officers theorized she had tried to crawl to a telephone or to the door to summon help.

Mrs. Glavick was hospitalized. Her condition was listed as fair to poor.

Highland House Gets Extra Year Demolition Stay

A historic Highland house has been granted a reprieve from the bulldozer.

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller ordered the Public Works Department to extend from next month to Dec. 1, 1967, the removal of the Reuben Deyo house, better known as the Roberts Estate. The governor's action was confirmed by Mrs. Jeffery Starin of Newburgh and Mrs. Nicholas Marone of Highland who have been fighting to preserve the house at its present location.

The public works department contends the house must be moved because it is in the path of an access road to the new Mid-Hudson Bridge approach. Mrs. Starin, who purchased the house in an effort to save it, says moving the house for the site will destroy its historic significance.

The drive to preserve the house has the backing of Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, Ulster County historian; Jedd Reiser, chairman of the Historical Buildings Committee of the American Institute of Architects, New York Chapter; William van Benschoten, architect, historian and member of the Ulster County Planning Board; Beatrice H. Wadlin, Highland historian; Mrs. Arnold A. Lent, secretary of the Deyo Family Association and Richard Kiley, West Park actor.

Shots Halt Bolt Of Port Ewen Man

While Dennis M. Alexander, 25, of Port Ewen was in custody of deputy sheriffs Thursday, having been picked up on a Family Court warrant, he made an attempt to break away from the officers as he was being taken into the court house.

Alexander had been apprehended in the Town of Ulster where he was handcuffed.

As Deputies James Walsh and Malcolm Lyons were transferring him from the sheriff's department car to the court house, Alexander made a break and ran. Deputy Lyons called for the man to halt and when he failed to stop, Lyons fired a shot. Alexander continued to run and two more shots were fired before he halted and surrendered himself to the deputies.

More than 900 potentially destructive earthquakes occur throughout the world each year.

Sorosis Holds CARE Benefit Tea

Sorosis held its annual Thanksgiving tea for the benefit of the CARE on Monday, Nov. 21 in the parlor of the Presbyterian Church.

The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Thomas Reynolds Sr., and a meditation on Gratitude was given by Miss Helen Turner.

Mrs. William Rylance, program chairman introduced Miss Tan-Ling Yuen, a music student at the State University College at New Paltz, from Hong-Kong. She entertained at the piano playing Mozart Sonata K331 and then gave a short talk about her country and answered questions.

Mrs. Keith Smiley spoke on the work being done at Mohonk in Ulster County with foreign students to build bridges of understanding among people of different countries. This week the Mohonk Trust is sponsoring the Fourth Annual Foreign Student Conference. Twenty-five students from as many countries will participate. Mrs. Smiley said that since 1890 they have been promoting international relations at Mohonk. In 1895 they began bringing diplomats together with the hope that in these conferences they could negotiate the differences that might lead to war.

The third guest speaker of the afternoon was Justin R. Sabiti from Uganda, a student majoring in political science at Bard College. He gave a short talk about his country.

Mrs. Thomas Reynolds Sr., and Mrs. John Alley poured at the Thanksgiving tea table.

MRS. BARRY ALLEN MILLER (Lakeside photo)

Kivlan-Miller Nuptials Are Announced

Miss Lorraine Marie Kivlan of Kingston exchanged marriage vows with Barry Allen Miller, also of Kingston, on Nov. 20, at a 2 p. m. wedding ceremony in St. Mary's Church, this city. Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly. Theodore Riccobono was the organist and Jane Brooks sang several traditional selections.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Irene Bannen of 129 Pine Grove Avenue, this city, and Joseph Kivlan of 43 Levan Street, also of Kingston. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Bill Snyder of Genesee Avenue, this city, and Charles Miller of 43 Pine Street, also of Kingston. Baskets of white gladioli decorated the church for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire styled gown of broad eadefashioned with long tapered sleeves, scooped neckline and a chapel length train. Her silk illusion veil was shirred to a stylized headpiece of hand rolled roses and lace motifs. She carried a cascade of white roses with ivy and satin ribbon. The dedicated a bouquet of white carnations at the altar of the Blessed Mother also.

Mrs. Doreen Sorenson of 3 Westrum Street served as the matron of honor for her sister. She wore an empire sheath gown with a bodice of moss velvet and skirt of vanilla crepe. She also wore matching Dior bow with a short tulle veil and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow carnations with ivy and yellow ribbon.

4-H Club

Council Meeting

The Ulster County 4-H Council met Nov. 17 at the 4-H office. The main topic of discussion was the Council's Constitution, recently written by the Council's past and present officers. The Constitution was passed, with certain corrections.

Dec. 18 was the date chosen for decorating the New Paltz Infirmary.

The Council decided to have a Christmas Jubilee, to which several foreign students from this area would be invited. Dec. 27 was the date chosen for the occasion.

Miss Sharon Miller of Genesee Avenue, Lake Katrine, sister of the bride, and Linda Horne of Vestal Hills Drive, Kingston, served as bridesmaids in moss green velvet gowns. They carried colonial bouquets of yellow carnations with ivy and yellow ribbon.

B. Vitarius of Port Ewen was best man. Ushering were John Bittner of Kingston, cousin of the bride, and Larry Miller of Syracuse, cousin of the bridegroom. A reception was given at the Tropical Inn, Port Ewen. The bride, who attended Kingston High School, is planning to continue studies in a nursing career. Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School, is serving with the U. S. Air Force.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller plan to reside in Omaha, Neb.

Contract Woes May Close Opera House; Bing Is Indignant

NEW YORK (AP) — General Manager Rudolph Bing says that the Metropolitan Opera's glittering new house will be plunged in darkness if the Met's orchestra members carry out a threat to strike.

Calling the musicians "the Metropolitan's would-be grave-diggers," he accused them of "effrontery" and "total irresponsibility" and said they were "jeopardizing the very existence" of the company.

Bing's blast came Thursday in response to a warning by the musicians' adviser, labor negotiator Herbert Gray, that the orchestra might walk out unless the Met management sat down "in good faith" to iron out final details in their new contract.

The musicians, members of the AFL-CIO American Federation of Musicians, struck for two days before the Met opened its new Lincoln Center home last September. The broad terms of their settlement were announced on opening night.

Bing said the orchestra members are getting $15,000 a year under the new contract for a 30-hour week and this will increase to $17,000 a year in the 1968-69 season for a 27-hour week.

MRS. JAMES L. COHEN (Shafer photo)

Hyla Joyce Alcon Weds James L. Cohen; Plan to Make Residence in West Virginia

Miss Hyla Joyce Alcon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Alcon of Kingston, N. Y., was married Wednesday, Nov. 23, to James Lawrence Cohen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney LeWitt of New Britain, Conn., and the late Hyman Cohen of Charleston, W. Va. He is the grandson of Mrs. Francis Siegel of New Britain, Conn., and also the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cohen of Charleston, W. Va. Rabbi Stanley Kessler performed the ceremony at the Beth El Temple in West Hartford, Conn.

The bride was escorted by her father. She wore an ivory silk peau de soie gown with a jewel neckline. It had long sleeves accented at the wrist with jeweled re-embroidered Alencon lace. The train was a detachable wateau back, chapel length, of Alencon lace appliques over English net. The veil was an ivory jeweled Alencon lace Dior bow, caught with bouffant veil of imported silk illusion.

Mrs. David Hendel, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. Other attendants were Miss Michele Doane of Hartford, Miss Johanna Hoffman of Hartford, Miss Elizabeth Davis of Hartford, Mrs. Henry Austin of Attica, N. Y., Mrs. Robert Pratt of Kingston, N. Y., Miss Joanne Petrosky of Hartford, and Mrs. Bruce Bachmann of Chicago, the sister of the bridegroom. They wore pale green brocade splashed with pink, sashed high with pink velvet and carried pink roses.

Barry Azia was the best man. Ushers were Irwin Goldberg of Hartford, Dr. William Renert of West Haven, Daniel Konover of Arlington, Virginia, Sy Birnbaum of New Britain, Robert Stroth of Glastonbury, Bruce Bachmann of Chicago, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, and David Hendel of West Hartford, the bride's brother-in-law.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School and Dean Junior College, Franklin, Mass. Her husband was graduated from Berkshire School in Sheffield, Mass., and University of Hartford. He became a Certified Public Accountant this year and is associated with Richard Herman Inc. of Charleston.

After a wedding trip to Hawaii the couple plan to live in Charleston.

B'nai B'rith Women Announce Several Benefit Projects

The regular monthly meeting of B'nai B'rith Women will be held on November 30 at Temple Emanuel at 8 p. m. Mrs. Burton Felt, co-chairman of membership and her committee will induct new members. Following this ceremony guest speakers will be two women from foreign countries, Catherine Mariano of Somalia, Africa, a student at New Paltz, and of Sheila Bajaj of India, who now lives in Kingston. All members are urged to attend and to donate a paperback book for the veterans at Castle Point Hospital.

At the meeting holiday gifts will be available.

Mrs. Harold Monaschewsky is chairman of this project.

Mrs. Max Millens has requested that old eye glasses, frames and lenses be brought to the November meeting. They will be sent to "Eyes for the Needy."

Mrs. Jack Parnett and Mrs. David Posklesky have a few commercial calendar lists outstanding.

Mrs. Jerry Cohen is sending Hanukkah cards and stamps to the Middletown State Hospital for the patients to send to their families and friends. She will also be purchasing gifts for distribution to needy local families and national B'nai B'rith hospitals.

A very successful Career Day was held on November 15 at Myron J. Michael Jr. High School. Chairmen were Mrs. Herman Lowe, Mrs. Ira Shaw and Melvin Mone, representing the Zephaniah Lodge.

Donations of cookies or money for the annual TB Hospital Christmas party, will be handled by Mrs. Joseph Murkoff.

Music Appreciation Group

The Music Appreciation Group was entertained at the home of Mrs. Robert Pixley on Nov. 18. Mrs. Claude Van Wagenen, co-hostess.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. William Ochs, who read from a poem entitled "The New America," by Carl Sandburg in which he predicted great days ahead to men and women of will and vision.

After several items of business were considered, the program was introduced by Mrs. Arthur Pederson, whose topic was "Raw Materials of Music."

with such items as pitch, melody, harmony and modulation. A period of discussion showed a lively interest on the part of the group. The speaker referred to a current news article which stressed the value of recordings to familiarize the listener with many of the new techniques used in the symphony orchestras of today. The recordings of Handel's "Largo" and the "Hallelujah Chorus" were played to round out this program.

A social hour and refreshments brought the meeting to a close.

The group will meet with Mrs. John Steiner in December.

PLANNING FOR CHRISTMAS BAZAAR—For the first time in more than half a century, the Fair Street Reformed Church did not hold a traditional Election Day turkey dinner. Replacing that dinner will be a Christmas Bazaar

To Be Faculty Dean
At Vassar College

Dr. Nell Eurich of New York City and Aspen, Colorado, will become Dean of the Faculty of Vassar College, and Professor of English, July 1, 1967, it was announced today by President Alan Simpson. Mrs. Eurich will come to Vassar on Jan. 1 as dean-elect and vice-chairman of the recently formed Committee of New Dimensions, a trustee-administration-faculty group responsible for exploring and planning major innovations in Vassar's educational program.

A former member of the department of English at New York University, and the holder of the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Columbia University, Mrs. Eurich has had a wide-ranging career as an educator. She has been acting president of Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., and academic dean of New College, Sarasota, Fla., and is at present a member of the board of trustees of that institution and chairman of the educational policies committee of the board. She is also a member and former director of the Special Committee on Liberal Studies of the American Association of Colleges; a member of the National Selection on Fellowships for the National Endowment for the Humanities, and chairman of its Plains-Rocky Mountain area selection committee; and a member of the reading committee on the Harrison Award for Great Teaching of the Danforth Foundation. As a specialist on seventeenth century English literature, she has published scholarly articles, and is the author of the book "Science in Utopia," which will be issued by The Harvard University Press next spring.

She is married to Alvin C. Eurich, who is president of the Aspen Institute for Humanistic Studies and president of the Academy for Educational Development. From 1949 to 1951, he was the first president of the State University of New York, and earlier had been vice-president and acting president of Stanford University, and a vice-president of the Ford Foundation's Fund for the Advancement of Education.

Before doing her graduate work at Columbia, Mrs. Eurich, a native of Indiana, Ind., had been graduated, with honors, from Stephens College and Stanford University. After holding the positions of director of the student union at the University of Texas and resident counselor at Barnard College, she became assistant to the president of the Woman's Foundation, and in that capacity organized the 1948 White House Conference on the American Family. From 1951 to 1952 she was in charge of public relations for the State University of New York. In 1952, she was acting president of Stephens and from 1953 to 1954, the director of the New York development office for Stephens. From 1959 to 1964, she was Assistant Professor of English at New York University. This year she served as director of a project to reorganize the curriculum of the Aspen Public High School.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM J. MASON of Ruby, N. Y., who were guests of honor at a dinner party held recently in Elmer's Inn, Ruby, in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary. The party was attended by their many friends and relatives from Ruby, Kingston, New Jersey, Brooklyn and Long Island. They were married in St. Ann's Church, Sawkill, by the Rev. Father Hughes, now deceased.

Becomes Bar Mitzvah

Lawrence Pizek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pizek, became a Bar Mitzvah Thursday morning at services conducted at Temple Emanuel. Robert Pizek, Joseph Yavus, Murray Weinstein and Herbert Pizek participated in the Torah service.

She is a former trustee of Bank Street College and the Hudson Guild Settlement House, in New York City, and the Colorado Rocky Mountain School, in Carbondale, Colo.

She has two children, Julie, aged 15, a student at Milton Academy, in Milton, Mass., and Donald, aged 12, at Cranbrook School, Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

Ridge 4-H Youth
To Take Part in National Contest

Ralph VanAken of Stone Ridge, a high school senior at Rondout Valley Central School and 4-H member for seven years will be participating in the 4-H Dairy Cattle Judging Contest at the International Dairy Show, Chicago, Ill. to be held on Nov. 30. He is one of four 4-H Youth in New York State selected to participate as a result of their achievement at the New York State 4-H Dairy Cattle Judging Contest held at the New York State Exposition in September at Syracuse.

The New York State Youth will leave from Ithaca Tuesday, Nov. 29 for Chicago. After the judging contest on Wednesday, they will join the 12th Annual 4-H Dairy Conference Thursday through Saturday. A special program has been arranged for these 4-H delegates. The selection to the 4-H State Judging Team represents a high honor for VanAken.

He is a member of the High Falls Lightning Rods under the leadership of William Warren of High Falls. He received his judging training through the County 4-H Dairy Judging Program which has been conducted by Frank Coddington and Robert Kelder of Stone Ridge assisted by Wayne Kelder of Accord. VanAken son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph VanAken of Stone Ridge, has been active in both 4-H; school and church activities. He has completed 4-H projects in dairy, handyman, electrical, fire prevention, and tractor and has held many offices in his local 4-H Club. In school he recently participated in the high school play and has been a member of the school wrestling team.

The trip nationally is being sponsored by the EAIC of Ithaca, Eastern Artificial Insemination Cooperative and also locally by the EAIC.

Merit Scholarship Tests on Feb. 25th

Marlboro Central School students who expect to complete their secondary school requirements and to enter college in 1968 can register now to participate in the 1967-68 National Merit Scholarship Program. Director of Guidance, Edward H. Stearns, announced today.

The first step for all students who wish to enter the nationwide competition is to take the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMQST), which will be given in the school at 9 a. m. Saturday, Feb. 25, 1967.

Participating students pay a $1 fee, which is remitted by the school to Science Research Associates (SRA), the testing agency. If a student is unable to pay the testing fee, it will be paid by the National Merit Scholarship Corp. (NMSC) at the request of his school.

In addition to competing for the Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1968, students can take the test to obtain information useful in planning their future education and careers. With his NMQST scores, each participating student will receive a handbook to help him evaluate his scores, compare his performance with that of other high school students across the country, and give his information on choosing a college and financing his education. The handbook and other interpretive materials are furnished as a part of reporting the test results.

The highest-scoring students in each state will be named Semifinalists and will be eligible for Merit Scholarship consideration. In addition to the NMSC, more than 350 business corporations, foundations, colleges, professional associations, unions, trusts, other organizations, and individuals offer scholarships through the Merit Program.

About 13,440 students have won Merit Scholarships in the 11 Merit Programs to date. Some 2,330 Merit Scholarships were awarded in 1966 with stipends ranging from $100 to $1,500 per year for four college years. The amount of the winner's award is determined by assessing the financial assistance he will need to attend the college of his choice.

DISCUSSING ADOPTION WITH CHILDREN

The following letter has been chosen as the most interesting one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to Mrs. Richard Irving of Mahopac, New York.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a puzzling etiquette problem I would like to submit to you. All of our children (three) are adopted. What does one say to discourage well-meaning friends from making personal inquiries concerning the children's natural parents and the circumstances surrounding the adoption? People often tell our children how fortunate they are to be adopted by us and this, too, deeply disturbs me. We feel we are the fortunate parents to be so blessed. How can I effectively stop curious people without becoming rude?

Dear Mrs. Irving: You have written about a question which disturbs many people and it is a difficult one to answer.

The most important thing, and in your case it has apparently been done, is to inform the children as soon as they are old enough to understand, that they are adopted. It can be explained painlessly and happily by emphasizing the fact that they were wanted so badly and chosen above all others by you. If you really convince them of these two facts from the very beginning, they will never have anything but pride in the fact that they are adopted. But if you try to keep the adoption a secret, you are asking for trouble. They almost invariably find out by chance and their trust in you is immediately destroyed by the fact that you have not been honest with them.

The second question is more difficult. It is impossible to stop unthinking people from asking such personal questions. The best solution is to forewarn your children, explaining the circumstances of their adoption in such a way that it will not confuse or upset them when they are asked about it. If the children are too young to understand, try to answer for them, and you may frankly explain to people that you would prefer them not to discuss the adoption with the children until they are old enough to fully appreciate their situation.

Traveling Teenagers

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a 16-year old girl and a senior in high school. My girl friend and I would like to go to Washington for a weekend. My mother objects on the grounds that we are too young to travel alone and stay in a hotel unchaperoned. She respects your judgment and I feel sure that if you say it's all right, she will let me go. Carol.

Dear Carol: You're going to hate me, but I'm on your mother's side. If you were going to stay with friends, I would have no objection to the traveling part, but I think you should wait another year or two before staying in hotels without an adult.

Details concerning the announcing and christening of a baby are described in the booklet "The New Baby." To get a copy, send ten cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this paper.

Cup Finalists

Continue to Sag In Hockey Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Detroit is having trouble keeping the puck out of its own net and Montreal is having trouble putting it in the opposition's cage.

That, in a capsule, explains why the Red Wings and Canadiens, last season's finalists in the Stanley Cup Playoffs, are holding down the last two spots in the National Hockey League today.

Detroit dropped its fifth straight, 8-3 to Boston Thursday night. Montreal lost its sixth game in the last eight, 5-0 to Chicago.

The last place Red Wings have managed just four victories in 16 games this season and have allowed 60 goals, an average of almost four per game. No other club has allowed more than 49.

Montreal suffered its second shutout in 14 games as Chicago's Glenn Hall kicked out 31 shots. The Canadiens have scored only 29 goals so far — a fraction more than two per game. No other club has scored less than 40.

Army Underdog Against Navy In Service Game

By CHARLES J. TIANO
(Freeman Sports Editor)

Team captain Townsend Clarke, Army's All-America linebacker candidate, heads the list of 14 Army football players who will be completing their Military Academy careers against Navy Saturday.

Clarke, who hails from Newport R. I., has relatives in Kingston, and was supported by a Townsend Clarke fan club from this city throughout the 1966 season at Michie Stadium.

An outstanding linebacker during his three-year career, Clarke missed two games this season because of injuries. His tremendous performance against California, however, stamped him as an authentic All-America candidate.

Navy Is Favored

Navy has been installed as a 2½-point favorite for the 67th renewal of the service classic in John Kennedy Stadium at Philadelphia. The kickoff time for the game which will be nationally televised by ABC-TV is 1:15 p. m.

Joining Clarke in their Army swansons are seven other players from the defensive unit and six from the offensive unit. Those closing out their career include fullback Mark Hamilton, linebacker Dean Hansen, halfback Claude Herman, middle guard Monk Meyer, guard John Montanaro, tackle Mike Newman, end Bob Nolan, and Dave Rivers, tackle Tom Schwartz.

Navy's answer to Lindell is and defensive back Hank Uber-eken. The installation of Navy as favorite comes as a surprise to many football observers. Coach Bill Elias' Midshipmen go into the game with a disappointing 4-5 won-lost record. Army on the other hand has seven victories in nine games under new coach Tom Cahill.

The Cadets have lost only to No. 1 Notre Dame and Tennessee, a bowl selection. Against common opponents, the teams are 1-1. The Middies defeated Pittsburgh, 24-7, and lost to Notre Dame, 31-7. Army shut out Pitt, 28-0, but lost to the Fighting Irish, 35-0.

The oddsmakers may have been impressed by Navy's superior statistics on offense. Navy has made more first downs (142-136), gained more yards rushing (1,355-1,303), passing, 1,241 to 1,162 and completed more passes, 197 to 90, and scored more points (140-121) than the Black Knights of the Hudson.

Better on Defense

On defense, the Cadets held a slight edge, having yielded an average of 213 yards per game to nine opponents, while Navy has surrendered an average of 247. Army also has been more effective against the running game, 801 to 1,363, but Navy has exhibited a superior pass defense, yielding 866 yards compared to Army's 1,108.

Army's offers a legitimate triple threat in quarterback Steve Lindell, who has run for 254 yards on option plays and passed for 871 yards. He is also an effective field goal kicker. Chuck Jarvis is the Cadets' leader, rushing 454 yards, Mark Hamilton, John Pedute and Carl Woessner are the other strong runners. Lindell has good receivers in Terry Young, Gary Steele and Woessner.

Navy's answer to Lindell is

Kickers Play Sunday Contest at Schwaben

Ventriglia, Temo In Local Lineup

Kingston Sport Club Kickers have mounted a powerful offense to assault the rock ribbed defenses of New York Schwabens in their German-American Soccer Association clash, Sunday at Throggs Neck Stadium in the Bronx.

Eugene Ventriglia, State University (New Paltz) All-American, will definitely be in the lineup. Timo Liekoski of Rosendale, who completed a freshman season at New Paltz, is expected to be in the goalkeeping slot, making Reiner Schwabel available for front line duty. The locals will need all the shooting power they can muster.

Tough on Defense

Next to White Plains, the Schwaben kickers (4-1-5) have the toughest defense in the league, having yielded only 14 goals in 10 games. On offense they have tallied the same number.

Kingston has scored 29 goals (six by forfeit) in nine outings, while yielding 18 on defense. The kickers are in fourth place in the standings with 12 points, one behind White Plains and Bavarians and three off the pace set by league leading

Barry Sees Real Pro on Defense

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Veteran Dave Gambee showed youthful Rick Barry a few defensive tricks in the National Basketball Association Thanksgiving night.

Barry scored 27 points in the first half for the San Francisco Warriors against the Philadelphia 76ers, but in the third period of the 29-year-old Gambee held him to just one field goal and the 76ers opened a 22-point lead to beat the Warriors 140-123.

The victory kept the 76ers one game ahead of the Boston Celtics in the Eastern Division. The Celtics whipped the St. Louis Hawks 101-73 in the other NBA holiday game scheduled.

Barry, former Miami, Fla., star in his second pro season, finished with 36 points, but was handcuffed by Gambee, former Oregon State luminary, in the second half.

San Francisco stayed two games ahead of runner-up St. Louis in the Western Division since the Hawks, playing at home against Boston, lost their third in a row.

Course Changes Only for Worse

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) —

After 56 pros carded sub-par rounds on the first 18 holes of the 1965 Cajun Classic Golf Tourney, host pro Luca Barbato decided his Oakbourne Country Club course needed a few more trees, water hazards and bunkers.

The alterations were ready when the pros attacked Oakbourne Thursday for this year's first round in the Cajun Classic — the last stop of the year on the PGA national tour.

What happened? There were 62 sub-par rounds Thursday under almost perfect playing conditions — near cloudless skies, little wind and 75-degree plus temperatures — as Bert Yancey of Florida and Chuck Courtney of Minnesota took the lead with seven-under par 65s.

Barbato carded a 73 and must scramble to make the 36-hole cut.

Courtney limped home with a 33-65 despite a pulled Achilles' tendon. Gay Brewer Jr., the tour's fifth leading money winner, was stung by a bee just before starting out Thursday. The Kentucky an carried an ice pack along to keep his right hand from swelling and carded a 69.

In a game billed as a must for both Buffalo and Oakland on Thanksgiving Day, it was the Bills by a 31-10 count after their defense provided the turning point in their fifth straight victory.

Deadlocked 7-7, quarterback Tom Flores hit end Art Powell with a 35-yard pass reaching the Buffalo 1. Oakland's Mike Eischeid kicked a field goal but the Bills evened the count and went ahead by halftime.

Victory for Buffalo virtually assured Kansas City the title in the West since the Chiefs stand 8-2-1 while the second place Raiders dropped to 7-5.

Buffalo went to 8-3-1 and a solid lead over Boston which stands 5-3-2 and New York at 5-4-1.

In games Sunday, San Diego plays at Denver, Kansas City at New York and Boston at Miami. Buffalo meets Boston on Dec. 4 on the Patriots home field in what could be the Eastern decider.

The Raiders netted only 58 yards rushing against the big Buffalo forward wall while fullback Wray Carlton alone ran for 97 against the Raiders. He scored two touchdowns, on runs of 11 and 2 yards.

The New York Jets face a must win situation against the Kansas City Chiefs in their Sunday setto at Shea Stadium. A defeat would be the fifth for the Jets and virtually knock them out of contention in the Eastern Division.

DETROIT (AP) — The question of the nation's No. 1 college football team may be settled Wednesday at the University of Detroit Theater. The university announced that debating teams from Michigan State and Notre Dame will debate the question: "Resolved: our team is No. 1."

Three judges will be on hand to eliminate the possibility of a tie vote. The Irish and Spartan grid teams played to a 10-10 tie last Saturday.

Kathy Trailing In Title Golf

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Defending champion Kathy Whitworth says if the weather holds up, the scores should be better than ever at this year's 27th annual Titleholders Golf Tournament.

But Miss Whitworth, who carded a two-over-par 74 during balmy, cloudless weather Thursday, was one stroke off the first — round pace and will have to go some to match her last year's mark.

The San Antonio, Tex., golfer set an Augusta Country Club women's record in 1965 with a one-under-par 287 for 72 holes.

Atop the first round listings with 73s were Peggy Kirk Bell, a veteran pro from Southern Pines, N.C.; Jan Ferraris of San Francisco, who turned pro only in July; Judy Kimball of Dallas, Tex.; and Mary Mills of Ocean Springs, Miss.

Koufax, Robby Hunt Annual Player Drafts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The annual baseball meetings open Monday with the draft of minor league players, but most of the top brass likely will be waiting to see if Frank Robinson and Sandy Koufax throw their weight around in absentia.

Neither Robinson nor Koufax will be on hand for the meetings, but they will be fully represented by these two big questions that remain to be answered as baseball's top brass assemble:

Will the success the Baltimore Orioles had after grabbing Robinson out of the National League spur interleague trading?

Will the Los Angeles Dodgers be handicapped in any trade maneuvers by Koufax' retirement?

The meetings, which begin here with the minor league draft and business, move on to Pittsburgh Thursday for the major league portion. During the sessions, as usual, the assembled brass will have an opportunity to pursue trades.

The interleague trading period, which allows deals to be made between the National and American Leagues, already has opened. But there has been no business.

However, the memory of how Robinson served the Orioles in leading them to the American League pennant and World Series triumph still is fresh with many general managers and could act as a catalyst once they all get together.

The Dodgers, swept in the Series by the Orioles, have publicly stated that they are not going to panic and make wholesale changes. There was little doubt, however, before Koufax' retirement, that they would be shopping in the trade market.

Buzzie Bavasi, the Dodgers' general manager, reportedly asked Koufax to hold off the announcement of his retirement until the meetings ended so that the Dodgers' bargaining position wouldn't be weakened. Now it has been.

29 Deer Checked Opening Day at Ellenville Area

Twenty nine deer were checked on opening day at the Ellenville cooperative area on opening day, according to a Region 8 report released today. The number of hunters participating was not announced.

On the Dutchess County controlled public hunting area near Verbank, 123 hunters took 16 adult male deer and 7 antlerless deer. On the controlled area at Brewster, 127 hunters took 16 adult males and 2 antlerless deer.

At other check stations established by the State Conservation Department large number of deer were observed. At the Hawthorne circle in Westchester County, 23 deer were aged by a regional biologist.

At the Fair Oaks station in Orange County on Route 17, approximately 295 deer were checked for biological data. Approximately 70 deer passed through the Sapporobush station near the Pennsylvania border.

The kill thus far is above average for opening days and indicates there will be a successful season in 1966.

Check stations are established by the Department throughout the region for obtaining biological information from successful hunters.

Region 8 includes the counties of Dutchess, Putnam, Westchester, Ulster, Sullivan, Orange and Rockland. Warren H. McKeon is regional supervisor.

National Cemetery Burials Pose Problem

40 Million Persons Eligible, But Few Gravesites Available

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 40 million persons—more than one-fifth of the U.S. population—are eligible for burial in a national cemetery.

These are military personnel, veterans, their wives and minor children; and their number has been rising steadily each year.

Yet, there are only about one million gravesites available in the Army's national cemeteries.

A controversy has arisen about them on what to do—or whether to do anything at all. Is it a government responsibility to provide the graves?

Will Pursue Fight
The question arose recently when the families of certain young men killed in Viet Nam wanted to bury them in national cemeteries near their homes. But there were no available gravesites in those cemeteries. In Congress, some members urged an extension of the present system or enlargement of a specific cemetery. Various veterans organizations campaigned to get an enlarged system. They have promised to pursue the fight in Congress next year.

Of course, not all those eligible will choose to be buried in a national cemetery. Most veterans are buried in private cemeteries that they or their survivors have chosen.

The estimated cost of expanding the present system so there would be at least one national cemetery in each state would exceed $2 billion for development, exclusive of the cost of land, the Army said.

For about a decade, the various administrations followed a policy formulated under the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration of opposing further expansion of the present system.

As each cemetery is filled, it is closed. Actually, this means that all gravesites in the cemetery are committed, for until 1962 a person could reserve a site next to the grave of a family member.

Still Room in Closed Ones
The policy now permits several members of a family to be buried on one site. With the prior reservations, thus, in closed cemeteries there still may be thousands of more burials for years to come.

The Army administers 85 national cemeteries; all of the gravesites in 24 of these are either reserved or occupied. The Interior Department administers 13 national cemeteries which are of historical significance, and all of the gravesites in seven are committed. Sixty-seven cemeteries are open to new burials.

Arlington Special Case
Arlington National Cemetery, across the Potomac River from Washington, is a special case.

Here are the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, the burial place of many illustrious military leaders of this country, and the grave of President John F. Kennedy, along with thousands of others.

New available gravesites in Arlington will be depleted by the year 1985. But the cemetery has a special significance for this nation, and many studies now are being made as to what can be done about Arlington.

Government spokesmen have said the fair and effective way for the government to participate in the burial of veterans is through the payment of cash burial allowances, rather than attempting to provide a government-operated cemetery system.

Most veterans are eligible for a $250 burial allowance through the Veterans Administration. In addition, most are eligible for the Social Security benefits ranging up to $255. So the burial allowance could be $505.

To this, veterans groups have replied that a money allowance cannot be a substitute for the privilege of burial in a national cemetery.

The cost to the government of a burial in a national cemetery, exclusive of the cost of the land involved, has been given as $56.46, plus $4.93 a year for perpetual care. The government also provides a headstone or marker, on request, for private cemeteries, costing from $22 to $34.

Auxiliary Police Change Meetings
There will be no meeting of the Kingston Civil Defense Auxiliary Police Monday, Nov. 28.

The radio net will be Dec. 5. Starting in January, meeting nights will be the first and third Monday nights of each month.

The first Monday of each month will be regular uniform inspection night. The third Monday night meeting will be for other planned activities.

Members will use dance studio entrance to meeting room at Moose Hall.

Say Arrest Imminent Of Hit-Run Driver
A hit-and-run driver is being sought by the sheriff's deputies today after an accident at 2:15 a. m. Thursday on Route 9W at Port Ewen. The car apparently coming north near the junction of River Road, apparently went out of control, on Cemetery hill. The vehicle struck a fence, hit a guard rail and sign and ran some 80 feet into a field after mounting a steep embankment. The car ran over the lawn of the Louis Lynn premises and then apparently, according to deputy sheriffs who investigated, turned and went south again on Route 9W.

The accident was investigated by Warden Carl Cline and Deputy Sheriff Robert Jordan. Deputy Jordan was continuing the investigation today and reported an arrest was imminent.

Booked After Mishap
A driver was booked on a traffic charge after a two-car mishap at Broadway and E. Pierpont Street reported at 1:35 p. m. Thursday. Police said the cars were driven by Edward Singleton, 30, of 62 VanBuren Street, and John N. O'Reilly, 18, of Route 145, Cairo. The latter was charged with failure to yield one half of the roadway and was fined $10 in city court today. Officers Harry Short and Douglas Longo investigated.

Statues Find New Place in Sun—The statues of King Ramesses and the god Ptah sit side-by-side at new site of the twin temples of Abu Simbel overlooking Lake Nasser in the Nubian Desert. Workmen push ahead to finish the assembling of the colossal temples, moved stone by stone from their old site to save them from the water due to submerge it when the Aswan High Dam is completed. Apparently the assembling is correct because the sun rays penetrate the main hall of King Ramesses Temple as they did, twice a year, at the old site. (AP Wirephoto)

Expect CBS Crews In Area Saturday
It was learned today from an authoritative source that CBS Radio News camera crews will be in this area on Saturday to have further interviews regarding the custody case of Beth St. John, foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Luni of Tillson. The program will later be shown on CBS News probably on Monday or Tuesday.

On the Gabe Pressman newscast Thursday night, the Luni family and Beth were shown at Thanksgiving dinner at the home of relatives at Massapeque, L. I.

Strike Hits New Delhi
NEW DELHI India (AP)—A call by Hindu groups for a nationwide strike to protest the slaughter of cows shut down one-third of New Delhi's shops today.

Police were out in force to prevent the strikers from physically compelling shopkeepers to comply with the strike call and to block a recurrence of the bloody riots which shook the capital about three weeks ago.

In smaller cities such as Jaipur capital of the Rajasthan state the strike was reported total and Hindus defied a ban on procession to demand the protection of India's sacred cows.

Mark 70th Anniversary
UTICA, N. Y. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Peters of Utica celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary today.

Peters, 96, and his wife, 92, were married Nov. 25, 1896, in Chatham, Mass.

"I met my husband in a church, which is a good way to start a lifelong relationship," Mrs. Peters said.

AT ELLENVILLE HOSPITAL FETE—Robert V. Stapleton, president of the Ellenville Community Hospital at the first annual dinner sponsored by the hospital. Nearly 800 persons attended the $100 a couple dinner last week at Homowack Lodge. Approximately $40,000 was raised from tickets alone with Ben and Julius Slutsky upping the Slutsky family pledge to $100,000. Past president plaques were presented to C. Denman Raymond Sr. and posthumously to M. E. Clark, Emory Terbush and William Douglas. Others honored included Louis Resnick, hospital vice president and co-chairman of the building committee, Harry Resnick, chairman of the hospital fund campaign, Evald Bors Kofoed, administrator of the hospital, and Lonstein, Harry Rieger and Irving Esrig were dinner chairmen assisted by Mrs. Fran Blackwell and Mr. and Mrs. Irving Blickstein of Homowack Lodge.

Ky. Magistrates Jailed, Refused To Okay Tax Hike

PIKEVILLE Ky. (AP) — Farley says the Pike County School Board will have to borrow money at the end of December to continue operating unless a budget dispute with four magistrates is settled.

The magistrates have been in jail since Oct. 25 for refusing to approve the board's budget which calls for a tax increase.

The board says the tax boost amounts to about 10 per cent but the magistrates contend it would raise taxes 20 per cent. State law limits the hike to 10 per cent.

Can Borrow 75 PC
Farley said Thursday that under state regulations the school board can borrow up to 75 per cent of its budget. He said the board would continue to borrow money if necessary as long as the state would permit it.

Jean Auxier the magistrates' attorney said he has filed a motion with Special Judge W. D. Sparks for a final judgment in the case.

The magistrates agree in the motion to approve the school budget provided that the money raised by the tax increase be held in escrow until the legality of the increase is tested in the courts.

Jailed on Contempt Charge
Sparks who jailed Magistrates Burdige Prater, Taylor Justice, Darwin Newsum and Foster Bentley on contempt charges after they refused his order to approve the budget said he has not received the motion from Auxier but will rule quickly when he does.

Visitor Stricken Fatally
Jacob Majerus, 76, of Rose Creek, Minn., taken suddenly ill Thursday while visiting his daughter, Mrs. Michael Devorossik at 29 Miller's Lane, was pronounced dead on arrival at the Benedictine Hospital. Coroner William S. Keyser said death was due to a heart attack. He had been taken to the hospital by a Doctors' ambulance at 4:50 p. m. He had been visiting the city with his wife. Funeral arrangements are to be made at Rose Creek.

Before Train Hit
Trucker Shrugs Off Hero Role, Helps Save Four

GRANVILLE Ohio (AP) — A truck driver who helped rescue four travelers from their wrecked auto seconds before it was hit by a speeding train says too many people pass the buck by "letting George do it."

James Martin 32 said he "didn't do anything that spectacular" in the early Thanksgiving Day rescue on U.S. 30 near Plymouth Ind.

'Only Fair Share'
"It was only my fair share as far as one human to another," said the father of five. He has been honored twice as Ohio driver of the month by the Ohio Trucking Association for earlier acts of helpfulness and is a part-time policeman in Granville.

"I just don't pass anybody up who needs help" Martin said in an interview.

"As I came up I saw the reflection of the license plate on the car," Martin said. "Then I saw a form on the ground next to the passenger side and a man standing on the other side."

"I stopped almost in the intersection and ran over to him. Inside were a young lady and a boy about two. They were covered with blood. I helped them out.

Not Time to Flag Train
"My thoughts were only how badly they were hurt and how could I be of assistance."

"Then I heard the train coming. I had a light in my hand and waved it. But there wasn't enough time to flag down the train. Later the engineer told me he never saw it."

"I hollered to the man, 'Let's get these people moved over to the other side of the road!' I don't think he was aware that a freight train was coming down the track."

As Martin and the driver of the car Carlos Kitchen 21 of Chicago carried Mary Alice Evans of Williamson W. Va. across the road the train struck the car.

Police said the car apparently ran off the end of a dead-end road and landed on the tracks.

Rail Cars Pile Up
As the five reached the other side of the road Martin said "the car started cartwheeling — railroad cars started piling up and falling over." Thirty-four freight cars and two engines of the Pennsylvania Railroad's Chicago to Fort Wayne Ind. train derailed.

Martin who has been a truck driver for 4 1/2 years said one of his first thoughts as he ran from his truck to the wrecked car was the little boy.

The boy son of Kitchen and his former wife Jeanne Taylor 20 of Elmwood Ill. the other passenger in the car was not seriously hurt.

Kitchen and Mrs. Taylor were listed in fair condition at a hospital. Mrs. Evans' condition was listed as poor.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act if they offer less than legal minimum wages or pay less than legal minimum hours. Most employees engaged in interstate commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 40 in a week. Beginning September 1, 1966, the minimum wage for certain large retail service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 42 in a week. The Act also requires equal pay for equal work for men and women. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act, call or write the U. S. Labor Department's local office, 881 E. Broadway, Room N. Y. 10452, Wyandome 2-2235.

IMPORTANT NOTICE: The New York State Labor Law prohibits discrimination in employment because of race, color, sex, religion, or national origin. The Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibits discrimination in employment because of race, color, sex, religion, or national origin. The Fair Labor Standards Act also prohibits discrimination based on sex.

Senator Visiting Viet Nam Notes Some Good Signs

SAIGON (South Viet Nam) (AP) — Sen. Milton R. Young said today there is "considerable encouragement on the military side" of the war in South Viet Nam.

Young gave this assessment after lengthy high-level briefings at headquarters of the U.S. Military Command.

Defeat and Disperse
The North Dakota Republican said "We are able to defeat and disperse the Communist units wherever we meet them."

The military briefings and meetings with Gen. William C. Westmoreland, top U.S. commander and U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge were highlights of the senator's first full day in Viet Nam.

Young and senior staff members of the Senate Appropriations and Armed Services Committees are scheduled to spend three days conferring with top American officials and seeing U.S. military units close up.

To Prepare Budget
Their mission is to gauge the situation and prepare for consideration of next year's budget. The war in Viet Nam is estimated to be costing the United States about $25 billion a year.

Young said U.S. authorities recognize that the black market "is a real problem."

"Improvements have been made" in dealing with this problem, Young said he was told by top officials.

Caracas Police Probe Poisoning
CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Police are pressing an investigation into the insecticide poisoning earlier this week of the water supply in a fashionable residential section of Caracas inhabited by many diplomats and wealthy Venezuelans.

There were no casualties in the poison scare, which sprang up Tuesday when residents detected a strong odor of insecticide coming from their water taps.

Residents of the area usually drink mineral water or boil tap water, police said. The area's water supply is independent of city mains.

Laboratory technicians identified toxic matter in the water as substance used in insecticides, and said it could be fatal if consumed pure, but probably would produce only a skin rash if taken in diluted form.

Police declined to comment on the investigation but informed sources said both criminal and political units were involved in the probe. The Health Ministry has termed the poisoning deliberate.

Board of Directors will take action on dividend payments at their meeting on Jan. 26.

Fitz-Gerald said that he is optimistic about the continued growth and expansion of the company and feels that the present slowdown of activity due to the disruption of the normal flow of funds for construction and mortgage financing is a temporary condition. He pointed out that it is most generally projected that the demand for housing exceeds present supply and a backlog is developing which will have to be satisfied in the future. However, he remarked, in view of the continuing course of the critical money market and its effect on the usage of building material products, it is not realistic to anticipate increased earnings in the near term as has been experienced over the last 10 consecutive years.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Autos picked up strength, adding it to that of airlines and other issues as the stock market continued a rally early this afternoon. Trading was relatively slow.

The pace of dealings was the lightest this week. Many Wall Streeters were making it a four-day Thanksgiving Day weekend.

The market was up slightly from the opening as it resumed its surprising pre-holiday advance. Prices held fairly well despite profit-taking and then began to move higher with no particular news as an incentive.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.29 at 801.11.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.0 at 233.2 with industrials up 1.3, rails up .8 and utilities up .2.

The ability of General Motors to snap back about 1½ points despite this week's dismal news that GM plans cutbacks in December and January was a highlight. Chrysler also gained more than a point. Ford and American Motors added fractions.

Gains exceeding 3 points by Eastern and American Airlines featured that group. United and Pan American rose about 2 each. Northwest, which reported higher earnings, a point or better.

IBM ran up 5 points, Polaroid and Xerox 3 each, Boeing 2. U.S. Steel was up ¼ at 37½ on 29.60 shares. Bethlehem and Republic Steel also added fractions.

Gains of a point or more were made by New York Central, Anaconda, Homestake and Raytheon. Du Pont rose 2.

Prices rose in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Woman to Take Office as State Solicitor General

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Mrs. Ruth Kessler Toch of Manhattan will become state solicitor general next Tuesday, the first woman to hold the second-highest post in the State Law Department.

Mrs. Toch has been acting solicitor general since September 1965, when Paxton Blair retired.

Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz named Mrs. Toch to the $29,500-a-year post Wednesday.

The solicitor general supervises all bureaus of the law department, including preparation of appeals in the state and federal courts.

Mrs. Toch, who joined the department in 1943, is considered an expert on state constitutional law and has argued cases in the U.S. Supreme Court.

She is to be sworn in by Lefkowitz at a ceremony in the Executive Chamber, with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller on hand.

Newsprint Output Hits October Peak

NEW YORK (AP) — North American newsprint production in October totaled 937,278 tons, the largest for any October, the Newsprint Service Bureau reported today.

This was 8 per cent greater than in October 1965.

Last year, 54 persons were killed during a similar period. Deaths by community:

Wednesday
Bliss — Charles D. Dutton, 60, of Bliss, struck by auto while walking near his home.

New York — Arthur C. Whitney, 51, of Jamaica, auto struck barrier along Belt Parkway.

Newburgh — Richard Stantal, about 18, of Cornwall, car hit tree along Route 9W.

Syracuse — Donald Hill, 34, of Tully, milk truck overturned, throwing him underneath.

Buffalo — Harry Bateman and Harold McLellan, both 23 and of Buffalo, two-car crash in which seven other persons were injured.

Middletown — Michael Antoniadis, 14, of Middletown, car in which he was enroute to a high school football game with two brothers struck a utility pole along Route 6.

New York — John J. Sullivan, 23, of The Bronx, truck rolled over on the Major Deegan Expressway.

New York — Britten Abernathy, 80, of Queens, injured in auto accident Wednesday night and died Thursday.

Castroville — Mrs. Clara A. Hutchins, 15, of Castroville, car in which she was riding struck a utility pole and tree along a rural road.

New York — Nick Catalan, 40, and Carlos Graulau, 43, both of the Bronx, and a woman who was not identified, car plunged over an overpass onto New York Central Railroad tracks and burst into flames.

Glen Head — John Boyle, 48, and his son, Christopher, 12, both of Glen Cove, two-car collision here.

Friday
Rochester — Dale Spafford, 19, of Rochester, killed when his car struck a tree in suburban Gates.

FRANCO ASKS NEW LAW — Francisco Franco, the general who has ruled Spain under a dictatorship for 27 years, speaks to the Cortes (parliament) in Madrid, offering a new organic law opening the way to establishment of a democratic monarchy after he steps down. The Cortes approved the projected laws unanimously. Franco, 74 on Dec. 4, proposed regulations for election of a king or a regent if no qualified "royal person" is available, and for greater religious freedom. (AP Wirephoto by cable from Madrid)

Appeal to Pope On Birth Control

NEW YORK (AP) — The appeal by 85 of the world's religious and scientific leaders to Pope Paul VI to change the Roman Catholic Church's stand on birth control says "man's responsibility to the next generation includes a primary duty to limit that generation's size."

The signers of the letter to the pontiff ask him to join in preventing a world overpopulation disaster by supporting birth control.

The letter notes the Roman Catholic Church's opposition on moral grounds to artificial birth control.

"It is the mark of great religions and the obligation of great leaders to recognize that changing conditions demand changing applications of unchanging moral values," the appeal said.

The letter whose signers include 21 Nobel Prize winners was sent to the Pope on June 2. Receipt of the letter and its presentation to the Pope were acknowledged by the Vatican June 27 by Msgr. Angelo Dell'Acqua to the Papal office of secretary of state.

The text of the letter was made public Thursday by the two men who drafted it — Dr. Edward L. Tatum of Rockefeller University winner of the Nobel Prize for medicine in 1958; and Dr. John C. Bennett president of Union Theological Seminary both of New York.

Dr. Bennett said the statement — titled "The Moral Perspectives for Regulating Birth" — had been circulated to about 100 theologians and scientists throughout the world. The 85 who signed are in 20 nations.

The letter to the Pope said that because of the spectacular increase in the world's population — especially through scientific achievements in saving and prolonging life — "man's future is threatened less by rampant disease than by unbridled reproduction."

Therefore the appeal said, "if future generations are to enjoy the quality of life made possible through the advances of science, our new moral imperative must call for the conscientious regulation of fertility."

The Pope's last public statement concerning birth control was made Oct. 29, when he said he needed more time to decide on the question. Church rules forbid Roman Catholics to employ artificial contraception.

Hold Rental Property If Well Situated

Q) "My husband and I own some excellent stocks, our savings are adequate and we have accumulated quite a bit in a credit union. We own our home, which we live in, and we have another house which we rent out for $175 a month. Should we sell the rented house and invest the proceeds in more stocks?"

A. H.
A) I am very glad that you are so soundly situated. You appear to have a balanced program of investments which should work out well. I do not advise you to sell your rental property, provided that it is well located and gives you an adequate return — at least six per cent — after taxes and all other expenses. Real property is a good thing to own as an inflation hedge and it helps to balance your entire financial situation. In most instances, good rental property has increased in value substantially since World War II and it should continue to do so if the dollar depreciates further.

Q) "What should a small investor do with about $500 in a savings account — let it stay there or put it into a savings bond or a few shares of stock?"

A. S. R. U.
A) Reading between the lines, I assume that $500 is the extent of your savings reserve. If that is so, I do not consider that you are yet in a position to buy stocks. My choice would be a Series E savings bond, on which interest accrues at the rate of 4.15 per cent compounded semi-annually and guaranteed for at least seven years.

Bank interest quarterly and may be altered at the discretion of the banks directors if money conditions change. Should you unexpectedly need cash before your bond matures, you may redeem it after two months holding without loss of principal. When your E bond matures, principal and accrued interest will be automatically extended for 10 years.

Sell Cars Through PX

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department is permitting automakers to sell cars to U.S. servicemen through overseas post exchanges as one step in a crackdown on unscrupulous auto dealers.

Pentagon spokesmen say servicemen have paid out nearly $100,000 this year for cars they never received.

The overseas GI is also prey for auto insurance and auto financing racketeers says the government. These steps are being taken to racketeers:

— The U.S. automakers can sell cars through post exchanges with the PX clearing about $25 to $50 per deal; about 7000 cars have been sold this way this year.

— Auto sales firms with records of illegal dealing are being banned from military installations and their names are being made public.

— Servicemen are being urged to buy from the PX.

— New stiff requirements are being imposed on auto dealers who want to sell to military men.

Boy, 14, Is Whiz
WASHINGTON (AP) — Stephen M. Soldz wants to be a math professor. He sells other books to buy math texts and he's getting part of his schooling in a Georgetown University graduate course.

It's not unusual. Except Stephen is 14 years old.

He's mostly in the ninth grade in suburban Fairfax Va., but within a year he'll have gone through all of his school's science and math courses.

So he's taking a twice-a-week night course in "point set topology" at Georgetown. His professor says he "competes very well."

Critical of Projections
WASHINGTON (AP) — A conservative organization says "let the three networks will have to police themselves and provide responsible election coverage or they will have to be policed by some agency representing the interests of the American public."

The Free Society Association whose honorary chairman is Barry Goldwater accused the networks of distorting and perhaps influencing results through its early projections of winners and margins in the Nov. 8 election.

"Before a single ballot was officially counted," said the organization "all three networks were 'electing' and 'declaring' winners. They were 'projecting' victory margins that turned out to be almost unanimously wrong — anywhere from two or three percentage points to an incredible 19."

Capital Footnotes
Czechoslovakia, reversing its position is permitting a U.S. official to see Vladimir J. Kazan-Komarek a U.S. citizen arrested in Prague last week on espionage charges.

The Auto Industries Safety Committee says nearly 15 per cent of the autos and trucks it inspected this year flunked the test.

The Lani Bird Satellite will carry an exchange of live news and public affairs programs between the United States and Japan Sunday and Monday and relay the Army-Navy football game to Hawaii Saturday.

Final casualty figures announced today were one U.S. military man killed and six wounded, one U.S. civilian killed, one Canadian civilian killed, four Koreans killed, one Filipino killed and one Vietnamese killed.

One U.S. civilian and a Canadian, a Korean and Vietnamese also were wounded.

The new official figures were much lower than the 20 reported killed and 10 wounded announced on Thanksgiving Day.

A spokesman said one military water truck and two Page Communications Engineering Inc. vans were destroyed, and three Page vans seriously damaged.

First Cavalry troops, following up a successful action Thanksgiving Day in which they killed 30 Viet Cong along the central coast and captured 11, struck out along the base of the An Loai Valley today, making occasional contact.

The Thanksgiving Day action involved two companies of cavalrymen. They moved in on the enemy with full artillery and air support.

During the action, an armed helicopter overshot a target, wounding five cavalrymen. Two were shot down, killing one American and wounding another.

Space, which will temporarily house the engineering graphics laboratories and general office space, will be used later for development of a data processing and computer technology laboratory and an advanced secretarial laboratory. This development will await the construction of an Engineering and Technology Building in Phase II.

The All-Purpose Building initially will contain the admissions, counseling, academic records and business offices. There also will be a snack bar and vending machine area, with seating for about 150 students. The buildings ultimately will contain all administrative services and has been designed for the addition of a classroom wing.

The 82-acre Stone Ridge campus is located eight miles southwest of Kingston.

The present college operation is housed in temporary facilities in the former Ulster Academy Building, made available to the College by the Kingston City Schools Consolidated District.

Charge Dismissed Against Tillson Man

A charge of second degree grand larceny lodged last month against Richard J. Savino, 54, of Tillson, was dismissed Wednesday by Justice of the Peace Wilfred Doolittle, Town of Rosendale.

Savino was arrested Oct. 16 on complaint of his employer, Sam Greenstein of Rosendale. Savino was employed as manager of the Chalet and Rosendale Lanes on Route 32. The charge involved funds.

The charge was dismissed on motion of Savino's attorney William P. Curran of Rosendale and $100 bail was refunded to the accused man who was cleared of the original charge it was said.

Red Hook Youth Is First Winner Of Monthly Award

Tuesday evening marked the start of the monthly award to outstanding area teenage students. The first such award was presented to John C. Glowienka who is a senior at Red Hook Central High School. The presentation as made by David W. Mountford, local manager of the Montgomery Ward store which is sponsoring this teen-age recognition program.

Warren W. Simmons, who is chairman of the award committee, said "that the selection of Glowienka was unanimous but difficult to make. We never realized how many young high school students have made such wonderful contributions to our society. When the judges started examining the recommendations submitted by the various candidates' high school principals, it became very clear that the task of selecting a winner would be difficult." John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Glowienka and according to Richard W. Barringer, principal of the Red Hook Central High School, is an outstanding student. Mr. Barringer's letter of recommendation to the Young America Award committee noted the youth's many scholastic accomplishments and extra curricular activities. Glowienka participated in the American Field Service Program attending school in Austria for a year.

The awards dinner was held at the Skytop Restaurant. The award program will continue each month and each winner will have his charcoal portrait drawn by John W. Davis of Saugerties. In June, a grand award banquet will be held at which time a teenage student will be selected from among the monthly winners. This student will then be named as the outstanding area teenager for 1966-1967.
